Midwest buffeted by high winds

By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms rumbled through the Midwest today in the wake of a widespread outbreak of tornadoes, heavy rain, snow, high winds and hail late Monday.

Several persons were injured at Hutchinson, Kan., when a tornado touched down during the night at a mobile-home park. Three mobile homes were destroyed and two were heavily damaged, authorities said.

The twisters downed trees and power lines at Topeka, Wichita and Haven, Kan., and in southern Buchanan County and an area northwest of Kansas City.

Tornadoes also caused minor damage at Davenport, Iowa.

Hail reportedly the size of softballs smashed automobile windshields and caused extensive roof damage Monday night at Sterling, Kan. Earlier in the day, equally large stones pounded Stafford, Kan. Hail 1 to 2 inches in diameter pounded Wichita and Newton, Kan., and Enid, Okla.

Thunderstorms spread along a line from north-central Oklahoma to northern Illinois, where a tornado set down briefly at Emerson shortly before midnight.

Severe thunderstorm watches remained in effect for portions of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. Scattered storms also were reported over Wisconsin and Lower Michigan.

Strong winds hitting 60 m.p.h. swept through Oquawka, Ill., and Philip, S.D., and gusts of 70 m.p.h. were recorded at Ponca City, Okla. Considerable wind damage also occurred in Hesston, Kan. Rains of 3 and 4 inches in eastern Kansas prompted flashflood warnings.

The complex weather system also brought a late blast of winter to Montana and North Dakota, where snow fell through the night.

Up to four feet of snow was dumped on Montana's Little Belt Mountains through Monday, and 8 inches accumulated at Lewistown. In the hard-hit central portion of the state, roads were closed, power lines were downed and telephone poles were toppled domino style.

Dollar dips in Zurich

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — The dollar and the British pound plunged to new lows on the Zurich foreign exchange market today.

The dollar dropped from 2.8250 Swiss francs Monday to a 10-month low of 2.7775.

The pound made an even more dramatic plunge from 6.9350 francs to 6.6586, a 4 per cent drop and the lowest level to which the pound ever has fallen.

Madam seeks public office; says she 'knows the people'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "I probably know people better than most of the people who are seeking public office," says Beverly Harrell. She claims she's the only active madam ever to seek elective office.

Mrs. Harrell, who owns the Cottontail "ranch," a legal brothel 156 miles north of Las Vegas, announced Monday she would seek the Democratic nomination for State Assembly in a three-county district in west central Nevada.

"I am ready for the legislature. I hope the legislature is ready for me," the petite redhead told a news conference. She said "40 sounds good" for her age.

She said she wanted to make clear her brothel was legal so people would not think she was "a shady character operating at the whim of paid-off public officials" but rather "a businesswoman who has lived and paid taxes in Nevada for seven years."

Mrs. Harrell said she would like to see the question of legalizing

Signed diplomas for vo-ed grads

The nagging question over awarding temporary blank diplomas to graduating seniors from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools attending the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School in Wilmington has been resolved.

Previously, vocational education students were to receive the opportunity to participate in graduation ceremonies at both high schools, but the actual diploma was to be withheld temporarily and issued immediately after officials at the Wilmington vocational school had verified the students' completion of diploma requirements.

However, the puzzle has been solved and it appears that the issue will be avoided for upcoming seniors next year at this time.

GUY M. FOSTER, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said that he had been contacted by Exley Wical, principal at the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School, and vo-ed school officials will be notifying local school districts in writing a week prior to actual graduation rites concerning the eligibility of prospective graduates.

Education bill vote scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today over how to distribute federal education aid to the nation's school districts, one of the most disputed sections of the $23 billion education bill.

At issue is about $1 billion in money distributed annually to school systems under Title I of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act, money intended to improve educational opportunities for disadvantaged children.

Opposing factions both strongly support this principle. But they disagree over how to define and count poor children.

Until last year the money was allocated on the basis of poverty-level children, as shown by the 1960 census, plus children in welfare families.

But the 1970 census results became available last year and showed a big shift of poverty-level families, chiefly out of Southern and rural states and into large metropolitan areas.

who are enrolled in vocational education courses.

But, Wical said graduating seniors at Laurel Oaks would not be dismissed early as in the custom in the majority of high schools throughout Ohio.

School districts, including Washington C.H. and Miami Trace, have dismissed graduating seniors early to collect college data and complete record-keeping tasks in addition to providing an opportunity for students to enter the job market earlier.

GRADUATING seniors at Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools will be dismissed a week before graduation ceremonies this year.

Commencement rites will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 29 for Miami Trace High School seniors and combined commencement and baccalaureate for Washington Senior High School's graduating seniors will be held Sunday, June 2, and in each case graduating vo-ed students will receive signed diplomas.

Vocational students will be dismissed from classes on May 31.

The question over the proposed blank diplomas caused concern on the part of a number of parents who felt their children were not being treated equally.

"There was a concern on the part of the board of education simply because we felt it was our responsibility to check courses completed and make certain that all requirements were met before the diploma was issued," Foster said.

The blank diploma question actually popped up in early April during a meeting attended by superintendents from Highland, Fayette and Clinton counties with vocational school administrators in Wilmington.

The purpose of the meeting was to coordinate end-of-year activities and the vocational education officials indicated at that time that grades for graduating seniors would not be issued early.

Since graduation ceremonies had already been scheduled by the high schools in the three counties in the vocational district, officials were faced with the unfortunate situation of not issuing signed diplomas until the vo-ed students had completed their requirements.

Board members from both school districts decided to leave graduation ceremonies as scheduled and issue blank diplomas to vo-ed students during commencement exercises, unless the vocational school decided otherwise.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A controversial bill eliminating mayors' courts and creating more than three dozen new judgeships in Ohio faced a major obstacle today in the House Rules Committee.

Leaders called up the omnibus bill for consideration as the lawmakers returned from their primary election recess. Action was on tap on several major measures this week in the hope the Senate and House can quit for the year in about a month.

Gov. John J. Gilligan's new supplemental appropriations bill, allocating $43.5 million from anticipated state lottery revenues, received a top priority among new matters proposed since the legislature recessed April 4. It is among about 80 new bills.

It would earmark $14.9 million for retirement of Vietnam bonus bonds and

United Nations buffer force part of plan

Syria-Israel pact nearer, reports say

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned to Damascus today for more talks with President Hafez Assad amid reports that Syria and Israel have moved closer to a disengagement agreement.

The Egyptian chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mohammed Abdel Ghany el-Gamasy, also was in Damascus. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has been urging Assad to come to terms with Israel, but Syrian government spokesmen denied a report by the Iraqi news agency that Sadat was also in the Syrian capital.

Kissinger was due back in Israel later today with the Syrians' response to the latest Israeli proposals.

United States officials indicated Monday that the two governments are close to agreement on thinning out armor behind the eventual disengagement lines and on what kind of United Nations buffer force will stand between their armies.

One senior American official said Israel and Syria had moved closer to agreement on the location of the front lines their forces would man on the Golan Heights. But he said while the distances still in dispute are relatively small, they are of major concern to both sides.

The source said there still was no guarantee that Kissinger's on-the-spot diplomacy — now in its 17th day — will produce an agreement.

Newsweek was told the secretary should know by Wednesday whether a disengagement is possible. But his aides said he plans to return to Washington no later than Sunday.

Israel has been reported willing to give up, either to Syria or the U.N. force, all of the territory captured in the October war plus part of the abandoned town of Quneitra, half a mile inside the territory captured in 1967.

U.S. officials refused to outline the remaining differences between the Israeli and Syrian territorial positions. But they claimed the sticking point was not three hills around Quneitra which

Israel is concerned about because they look down on some of the settlements the Israeli government has established on the Golan Heights. The hills probably would be turned over to the U.N. buffer force, the sources said.

Judiciary panel pushes ahead on impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today began its first full day of reviewing impeachment evidence with most members expected to get their first chance to listen to White House tapes.

Committee members went into the closed session carrying the thick looseleafed index books they received last week from the committee staff.

While the panel moved ahead with its review of the evidence its staff has collected over the past four months, President Nixon continued to put out word that "there isn't any chance" he will leave office voluntarily.

The committee session today was expected to focus on the Watergate cover-up, when the President learned of it and what he did about it.

In addition to the index listing all the materials collected by the staff, committee members receive each day another looseleaf book laying out the specific allegations and the evidence supporting them.

Day-long closed sessions are scheduled for today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Extraordinary security was in force for the committee sessions. The committee hearing room was sealed with no one other than the 38 members of the panel and its staff allowed inside before or after sessions.

For the first time, committee members other than the chairman and ranking Republican were to listen to some White House tapes.

On Wednesday, the committee is scheduled to vote on issuance of a subpoena demanding additional tapes. Notice of the meeting, sent to committee members on Monday, did not specify which tapes would be sought.

However, it was learned late last week that the subpoena would include a meeting on April 4, 1972, involving the President, H. R. Haldeman and John N. Mitchell. Four days before that meeting, according to testimony by Jeb Stuart Magruder, Mitchell approved a political intelligence plan that included bugging Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J. has said he hopes to complete the closed portion of the Watergate break-in and cover-up presentation this week.

Judge nixes injunction against WFL

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge David Porter today refused to bar the new World Football League from negotiating with players under contract to the Cincinnati Bengals of established National Football League.

Porter, in denying a preliminary injunction against the WFL and Bengals' linebacker Bill Bergey, wrote that the NFL team failed to prove their team would be undermined by a contract signed by Bergey with the Virginia Ambassadors.

The contract calls for Bergey to begin play for the WFL team in 1976. His NFL contract expires after the 1975 season.

The judge noted "the fact that Bergey is a fine young man, an emotional person with a great competitive spirit. Bergey has no intention of breaching his contract by letting down in the slightest."

Porter also cited testimony showing that the WFL has advised all NFL players it has signed to fulfill all their obligations to the older league.

Porter said the court could not find that Bergey's future WFL contract would impair the morale or performance of the rest of the Bengals team.

He did say, however, that the Bengals might be harmed if several team members were to sign with the WFL at the same time.

Chillicothe safety forces win pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chillicothe police and firemen have won salary and hazard duty pay increases under a new contract negotiated by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association.

The OCSEA said today the two separate contracts covering about 80 employees permit pay increases ranging from 13-to-25 per cent, plus improved fringe benefits.

Wiretap ruling hits major cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some major criminal prosecutions are in danger because former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell failed to follow the law on wiretap authorization. However, the Justice Department says it cannot identify the threatened 626 prosecutions.

The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that evidence obtained by the illegally authorized wiretaps is inadmissible.

The department, in a court filing, gave the figure of 626 prosecutions involving organized crime and narcotics cases.

However, spokesman Bob Stevenson said after the Supreme Court decision that the department only compiled that number and does not know which cases they represent.

"We don't have the cases broken up. We'll have to canvass the U.S. attorneys," Stevenson said.

However, another Justice Department source, when asked whether any major cases would be thrown out as a result of the decision, responded, "Oh, yes. Definitely."

Another spokesman said the decision does not necessarily mean that all 626 prosecutions will be lost. "It may be that only some counts against an individual resulted from the wiretaps. The evidence for the other counts could still stand," said Horace S. Webb.

The high court said the department failed to follow a 1968 law stipulating that the attorney general or a designated assistant attorney general must authorize a wiretap request to a federal judge.

Mitchell has testified that he personally authorized all wiretap requests when he was in Washington. He said that when he was out of the city, his executive assistant, Sol Lindenbaum, telephoned him and received permission to request wiretap authorizations.

A lower court noted that Lindenbaum not only authorized the memoranda of approval, but also signed them with Mitchell's initials.

Although spokesmen said there was no enumeration of the 626 prosecutions, previous testimony established that Lindenbaum signed authorizations for at least some of the wiretaps that resulted in some 500 arrests during "Operation Eagle," a nationwide attack on drug abuse in 1969.

Other wiretaps authorized under the now-banned procedure came in federal gambling, narcotics and bribery cases after months of investigation, according to a lower court ruling.

The attorney general has authorized wiretaps personally since 1971, Webb said.

Justice Byron R. White said for the court that it is apparent "that Congress desired to centralize and limit this authority where it was feasible to do so .... To us, it appears wholly at odds with the scheme and history of the act to construe (its) provisions to permit the attorney general to delegate his authority ...."

The wiretap that prompted the case was on Dominic N. Giordano, convicted of two sales of heroin to federal agents in Baltimore.

Giordano was convicted without use of the wiretap evidence, but prosecutors wanted to use the evidence against his accomplices.

Giordano, sentenced in 1972 to 12 years in prison, was paroled several weeks ago.

Ohio solons set action on major bills

$12.5 million for vocational education construction in the fiscal year starting July 1, among other things.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who will sponsor the administration bill, said he wanted to discuss it with members of his committee before introducing it. He indicated he will call a committee meeting today to look at proposed expenditures other than the $27.4 million for vocational education and the bonus.

The remaining $16.1 million would go for various projects enumerated by the governor a week ago. Republicans indicated they will not go along with what they called "Gilligan pork barrel" proposals aimed at getting votes in an election year.

Senate Finance Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, called Gilligan's bill "a list of misplaced priorities" and said Senate

Republicans plan to offer a supplemental appropriations bill of their own. Dennis was especially critical of the Gilligan bill because it ignored the issue of tax relief.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, is sponsor of the omnibus courts bill which he said could come to a floor vote in the House Wednesday. The Rules Committee considered it at a meeting last week, but it fell one vote short of the seven needed to schedule it for a floor vote.

Wilkowski said he has the seventh vote in Rep. James P. Celebrezze, D-4 Cleveland, who was absent from last week's Rules Committee session.

The Toledo lawmaker said he intends to remain firm against efforts by some House leaders and others to take out the mayors' courts abolition but retain the new judgeships.

Many of the lawmakers are under local pressures in their home districts to retain mayors' courts which often provide significant municipal revenues. Wilkowski and others include traffic "speed traps" among their arguments to get rid of them.

They also contend that since most mayors head up law enforcement efforts in their communities, it is wrong for them to sit as an official in the judicial branch of government.

However, most of Ohio's estimated 500 mayors' courts have survived a 1972 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court that said, among other things, that the courts could receive guilty pleas but not try the case of a defendant who pleads innocent.

Wilkowski conceded that if the bill gets to the House floor, amendments will be offered to strip the measure of the mayors' courts provision. "I will be (Please turn to page 2)

General Motors increases prices

DETROIT (AP) — The price of General Motors vehicles is going up another $105, and the auto giant says it expects a substantial price increase for its 1975 models.

GM said the hike brings the total price increase on the firm's average car or truck to $394 since the 1974 model year began last September.

The base price of the Chevrolet Vega, GM's hot-selling subcompact, was $2,237 last fall and $2,380 until this week. Now it will jump to $2,505, up $125 or 5.25 per cent.

The price hike was just over one per cent on all other models, including a $30 hike for the compact Chevy Nova.

2 hospital

escapees caught

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Columbus State Hospital patients were back in custody today — after a freedom that lasted about two hours.

Henry Fannin, 18, of Chillicothe, and Michael Sims, 16, of Steubenville, escaped from the institution Monday by kicking out a door.

Fannin was wrestled out of a tree about two hours later and Sims was apprehended in a farm field.

Columbus police said Fannin had been convicted of murder in Chillicothe and Sims of making menacing threats.

Church of England to get new leader

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today named Dr. Donald Coggan, the Archbishop of York, to be Archbishop of Canterbury.

Dr. Coggan will succeed Dr. Michael Ramsey as spiritual head of the Anglican Church when Dr. Ramsey retires on Nov. 15.

Divorce law repeal nixed by Italians

ROME (AP) — The overwhelming defeat of the Vatican's campaign for repeal of the Italian divorce law spurred a drive today to end the privileged status of the Roman Catholic Church in Italy.

Despite a vigorous, two-month campaign by Italy's bishops, most of its 190,000 priests and nuns, and the Vatican's political allies in the Christian Democratic Party, Italians voted 3 to 2 in a referendum Sunday and Monday to retain the divorce law that has been on the books only since 1970.

As soon as the results were known, anticlerical groups announced a nationwide drive to collect signatures on a petition calling for a referendum on all laws giving the Church a special position.

One such law stipulates that "the Roman, Catholic, Apostolic religion is the only religion of the state." Others give tax exemptions and other privileges to agencies of the Church and Vatican employees.

The outcome of the referendum was also a stinging rebuff to the Christian Democrats, Italy's dominant party ever since World War II, and its secretary-general, former Premier Amintore Fanfani, who led the party fight against the divorce law.

The campaign divided Premier Mariano Rumor's center-left coalition government and promised new stresses and strains for it in the future. The three smaller parties in the coalition — the Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans — were for divorce, along with the Communists; the Christian Democrats and the Vatican were supported only by the neo-Fascists of the Italian Social Movement, whose backing usually is considered an embarrassment.

Thousands celebrated Monday night in Rome and a dozen other cities, singing, honking horns and cheering. There was some violence. Leftist and rightist youths battled with iron bars and sticks in Naples and nearby Salerno, and six persons were injured. Leftists in Milan set fire to the office of a rightwing labor union. In Bergamo, which voted for repeal of divorce, leftists stoned the building of a Catholic newspaper.

Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani announced that 88.1 per cent of the electorate voted. The final count was 19,093,929, or 59.1 per cent, in favor of allowing divorce and 13,188,184, or 40.9 per cent against its legal retention.

against all the amendments and argue the bill on its merits. If they (the opponents) want to place politics above good government, that's their business," the judiciary chairman said.

The bill needs a two-thirds majority, or 66 votes, in the House — a constitutional requirement for legislation that creates new courts. The bill proposes to create municipal courts in Wadsworth and New Philadelphia, where none now exist. It otherwise adds new judges to existing courts.

Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, said Monday he will offer an amendment — if the bill comes to the floor — which he hopes will let the House reach a compromise.

He will propose, he said, that mayors courts be retained in the statutes, but that the mayors on their own could request a county judge or municipal judge to come in as so-called "circuit riders" to hear mayors' court cases.

Finan predicted his amendment would have the effect of putting mayors' courts out of business anyway "in about five years." He said most mayors he has talked to have stated they do not like to hold court. "They regard it as just another responsibility, another night out," he said.

The Cincinnati Republican conceded his amendment would add a heavy burden to county and municipal judges, but pointed out that they would be able to assign referees to hear cases in their place. Referees, under existing law, must be attorneys.

"That at least would overcome some of the objections to mayors hearing cases on grounds they are not attorneys," Finan said.

Cemetery board explains stand on bikes, dogs, cars

The Washington Cemetery Board resolved Tuesday to retain the prohibitive signs which were recently erected.

The board consensus was that the signs which prohibit bicycles, motorcycles, dogs and prolonged parking are in the best interests of the community.

Although there have been some complaints about the signs, board members feel that the vast majority were not from persons who wished to visit graves on the grounds. Rather they were from persons who desire to use the grounds for other purposes, according to Joseph O'Brien, city councilman and member of the cemetery board.

O'Brien said the restrictions are to prohibit groups of children from using drivers said they would wait to see how the strike progressed before deciding whether to join it.

Scattered rock-throwing was reported along the Pennsylvania Turnpike in western Pennsylvania, site of considerable violence in February. Several truck windshields were shattered, but there were no injuries.

Meanwhile, the Senate rejected by a vote of 51 to 29 a proposal by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., that would have increased the speed limit to 60 m.p.h. Dole contended the present limit imposes a hardship on truckers and residents of rural areas.

Nixon houses too costly, solons agree

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House report concluding $17 million in federal funds has been spent in connection with President Nixon's homes has broad support of Republicans who say security spending has gotten out of hand.

Several Republicans said they expected the report to get overwhelming approval of the House Government Operations Committee today, not as criticism of Nixon but of wasteful security spending.

The report proposed to the committee recommended the government take action to recover "any improper expenditures."

It also recommended security spending in the future be strictly limited to only one of a president's private homes.

The report said the $17 million—$9 million for San Clemente and $8 million for Key Biscayne plus $176,000 for Grand Cay in the Bahamas, where Nixon is a frequent guest of his friend Robert H. Abplanalp—covers all costs including personnel in connection with the homes.

It said some of the spending was "far in excess" of security requests and that some of it was for items contracted by Nixon's aides rather than regular federal agencies.

The report accused the Secret Service and other agencies of having "abused the discretion given them" by Congress' lack of restraints on security spending.

"As a result, government expenditures for all purposes at privately owned property have risen from practically nothing during the Roosevelt-Truman era to over $5 million in the Johnson administration and over $17 million during the first five years of the Nixon administration," the report said.

Personal income rises in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Personal income in Ohio in March totaled $56.5 billion, after seasonal adjustment, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reported today.

The center said that was an 8 per cent increase over income for the same month a year ago.

The personal income rate also was up 8 per cent for the first quarter of 1974 over the same three-month period a year ago, the center said.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Highpriced issues led a weak technical rally in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.41 at 852.00. Advances held a narrow 6 to 5 lead over declines in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said many investors remained preoccupied by lofty interest rates, inflation, and the political uncertainties surrounding the House inquiry into possible impeachment proceedings against President Nixon.

International Telephone & Telegraph was the NYSE's most-active stock, down 1/4 at 20 in trading that included a 48,000-share block at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .17 to 86.13.

Blue-chip issues showing strength included Eastman Kodak, up 2 at 106; Du Pont, ahead 2 1/4 at 176 1/2; and General Electric, up 1 1/4 at 49 1/2. Those three issues by themselves accounted for more than half the Dow's rise.

Prison OKs death wish

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Soledad Prison administration relented early today and permitted a convict serving heavy sentences on drug charges to leave prison to visit his dying son in a hospital.

Leonard Macchiarella's last wish before he lapsed into a coma was to see his father.

"Where's my Dad? Where's my Dad? I want to see my Dad," the 16-year-old youth pleaded.

Flanked by two guards, Phillip Macchiarella, 35, was taken to University of California Medical Center to see his son, in the last stages of a fatal kidney disease.

Earlier, the California Department of Corrections had said it was impossible to allow Macchiarella to leave prison because of his serious criminal record, but Soledad Superintendent W.T. Stone relented.

"He heard from the boy's doctor Monday," said Associate Warden E.A. Peterson. "The prognosis was that he couldn't live more than 36 hours."

Peterson said Macchiarella would be allowed out "just long enough to see his son, and perhaps his family," then he would be returned behind bars.

The elder Macchiarella is serving five years to life for possession of hard drugs, and a six-month to 10-year term for possession of marijuana.

Women also Watergate losers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House program to promote women has virtually been wiped out by Watergate.

The staff of the Office of Women's Programs has been whittled down to one secretary. "Things are not moving around here," one insider said Monday of the administration efforts on behalf of women.

Another source said the women's office "as an advocate is temporarily abrogated."

All the key women recruited in the White House by presidential counselor Anne Armstrong have left or given notice of their departure, and no successors have been indicated.

With them have gone hopes for holding the nation's first White House conference on women and a lot of plans for recruiting women in high government policy-making posts.

"There's not a woman appointee in the pipeline now," a source said, adding it may take months to regroup a new staff.

One source said "special interest advocates" for women and blacks "are really so far out of everybody's mind there" (in the White House) these days."

And it was reported that there is a reluctance to bring up such matters when the President and his key advisers are engaged in the Watergate battles.

Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. has the final say on such matters as the appointment of top women in the administration but was said to be "totally preoccupied" with other matters.

Mrs. Armstrong, with an arm-long list of White House project responsibilities from the Cost of Living Council to the bicentennial, has become increasingly involved with speech-making in defense of the President in the Watergate affair.

One source who knows Mrs. Armstrong well said she "cares a lot about the women's issue" but is spread too thin with added public relations assignments in the Watergate defense.

Mrs. Armstrong said, however, that her efforts are not stymied and she will be "going ahead as strong as ever" on behalf of women. "We'll make do—it won't fall through the crack," she said about the staff departures.

In the past six months there have been only two new highlevel women appointees—Assistant Secretary for Education Virginia Y. Totter of Lincoln, Neb., and Asst. Atty. Gen. Carla Anderson Hills of Los Angeles. There does not seem to be a similar appointment in sight now and "a dead period is predictable," a source said.

Companies blast taconite order

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Reserve Mining Co. and its two parent firms have filed a brief strongly criticizing U.S. District Judge Miles Lord's order that Reserve stop discharging asbestos-type fibers into Lake Superior and the air from its taconite processing plant at Silver Bay, Minn.

The government last August took Reserve to court in an attempt to stop the firm's daily discharge of some 67,000 tons of waste taconite rock into Lake Superior.

Several witnesses testified that tiny asbestos-type fibers found in the drinking water of several North Shore communities had entered the lake as part of the taconite wastes.

Judge Lord issued the order April 20 halting the discharge, and Reserve shut down its Minnesota operations for two days. However, the order was lifted by a three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis until 2 p.m. Wednesday, when the panel will meet to hear a request for a permanent stay.

Reserve and its parent companies, the Armco and Republic Steel corporations, have filed a brief with the appeals court contending that "never before" has such a far-reaching action been based on "such tenuous, insubstantial, insufficient and speculative" evidence.

The brief was filed in support of a motion by the defendants for a permanent stay of Judge Lord's order pending their appeal of that decision.

Reserve and its parent companies contended the judge's action was unnecessary "in view of the fact that no emergency situation exists because of the presence of asbestos-type fibers in the drinking water taken from Lake Superior."

The 47-page brief submitted by the defendants summarizes evidence produced in the trial and deals most specifically with public-health testimony and the potential economic and social impacts of a Reserve shutdown.

The defendants contend in their brief that the asbestos-type fibers enter Lake Superior naturally from a variety of sources, including tributary streams, and will remain in significant quantities even after Reserve stops discharging taconite wastes into the lake.

Hamilton County GOP chairman faces struggle

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dissident county and township officials will attempt to oust Hamilton County Republican Chairman Earl Barnes at a GOP Central Committee meeting tonight.

The dissidents are reported unhappy with Barnes' alliance with former Gov. James A. Rhodes and for losing control of Cincinnati City Council for two straight terms.

Hamilton County, one of Ohio's strongest GOP areas, also elected Democrat Thomas Luken this year in the 1st Congressional District. Luken is only the third Democrat to win that seat this century.

"I am a candidate and if they want to come after me, okay," said Barnes. "They got my dander up. I absolutely will not resign. I guess you could say I'm stubborn."

Ohio children receive aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 58,000 Ohio children received aid from public or private children services agencies during the first quarter of fiscal 1974, Public Welfare Director Charles Bates reported Monday.

Bates said the majority, about 48,000, received services from county welfare departments or children's services boards.

Others received care through private agencies or institutions licensed by the welfare department's Division of Social Services.

Bates said services offered ranged from day care programs to payment for psychological and psychiatric evaluations for emotionally troubled youngsters in residential treatment centers. He said medical care, counseling, family planning services for unwed mothers and group home living arrangements for older children were also provided.

Hearing tonight on subdivision ruling changes

A public hearing regarding proposed new subdivision regulations for Fayette County will be held by members of the Fayette County Planning Commission at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Apparently some changes in the proposed regulations have been incorporated since the last public hearing held by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

The meeting tonight will be held in the Commissioners' office.

Developers and other interested persons have voiced opposition to the proposed new standards since they feel the regulations are much too stringent.

Providing no more changes are made in the present set of standards, the Board of Commissioners will hold its public hearing on the regulations at 3 p.m. May 20 for final adoption.

COMMISSIONERS Monday afternoon agreed to start accepting bids for the rebinding, repair and refurbishing of record books in the Fayette County recorder's office. The bids will be opened at 10 a.m. May 28.

Copies of the proposed work schedule are on file in the commissioners' office.

In other matters, the board authorized county officials to attend professional meetings.

O.M. Riegel, county welfare director, and nine staff members will attend the Ohio Welfare Directors workshop meeting today and Wednesday in Columbus, and Mrs. Lorie M. Armbrust, county recorder, will attend the Ohio Recorder's Association executive board meeting Wednesday and Thursday in Columbus.

Gun control plan heads to committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo lawmaker's efforts to place gun control in the hands of a "blue ribbon" committee may be made on the House floor Thursday.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, said Monday he has an amendment ready that would revamp an earlier proposal to outlaw cheap handguns known as "Saturday night specials."

The House defeated the Saturday night special bill before the legislature began a five-week recess April 3, but Wilkowski and the main sponsor, Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, plan to bring it up for reconsideration.

Wilkowski said his amendment would take out the language outlawing Saturday night specials—those weapons that melt at 800 degrees Fahrenheit or less—and instead provide for a committee that would study "the whole problem" of gun control.

Wilkowski said he plans to try to bring the matter up Thursday unless other key bills in which he has an interest, including an abortion control bill due back from the Senate, take precedence with House leaders.

Galbraith indicated he would go along with his fellow Lucas Countian's proposal.

The judiciary chairman will suggest a committee made up of the House speaker, president pro tem of the Senate, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, the attorney general, the majority and minority leaders of both chambers of the legislature, and 22 others who would include prosecutors and other local law enforcement and court officials.

Wilkowski said the committee "would be directed to report back to us by April of next year. If they had a constitutional amendment in mind, they would be asked to give it to us with the appropriate language."

He said previous legislative attempts to deal with gun control "make it clear that the only way we can get an answer is to go to the people."

Wilkowski contends if the issue is placed before Ohio's voters, they would approve a constitutional change for "reasonable gun controls" by a plurality of 65 per cent."

Ohio soldier's body to be returned home

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—The body of Army Pfc. David R. Kyler, who died under mysterious circumstances, has been shipped back to his hometown of Jeromesville, Ohio, Cochise County Atty. Richard Riley said Monday.

The body was found April 10 at the bottom of a dry well near Sierra Vista, where Kyler was last seen Oct. 31. Riley said he was certain of foul play, based on circumstantial evidence, but an autopsy failed to determine a cause of death and there were no visible signs of violence.

The supply of doctors

The American Medical Association reports that as of the end of 1973 there were 366,379 physicians in the United States. This, we are told, represents an increase of 9,845 over the previous year.

In percentage terms, that is a substantial rise; it is more than double the percentage increase in the general population. Thus one might conclude that we are witnessing good progress toward having enough doctors to meet the medical needs of the American people.

Such a conclusion leaves out two important factors. One is the perennial problem of distribution, which arises largely from doctors' general preference for large communities with good hospital facilities. The other factor is the related matter of specialization.

The AMA figures offer some insight into this. They suggest that in at least one respect the situation with regard to optimum provision of medical care may be getting worse.

What we have in mind is that whereas the number of general practitioners declined, more medical specialists showed up in the

THESE DAYS . . . by John Chamberlain

The power to influence

"The political stand of this country's newspapers may be among the most underestimated forces in campaign politics."

Come, come, may be your reaction. Indeed, you may suspect that this is excerpted from a keynote address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors by a politician engaged in rainmaking. Not so; it is taken from a careful statistical study of the relationship of newspaper opinion and electoral behavior prepared by John Robinson of the widely respected Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Robinson even goes so far as to suggest that adverse editorials in the nation's papers may have cost Vice President Hubert Humphrey the 1968 Presidential election. Using extraordinarily sophisticated statistical techniques, which exclude other variables such as age, education, race, income and city size, Robinson indicates that newspaper endorsements hardly affected committed Democrats or Republicans, but "the political stance of the newspapers read by Independents was associated with a substantial difference in their Presidential votes. . . . The pro-Nixon newspapers seem to have swayed about 3 per cent of the total vote toward Nixon."

IN 1972, even with the Nixon landslide, Robinson had been able to single out meaningful differences. While Republicans were unaffected, Independents exposed to papers endorsing McGovern were 50 per cent more likely to vote for the senator than Independents addicted to pro-Nixon journals. Behavior among Democrats showed a similar divergence between those who read pro-McGovern organs and those who read papers endorsing Nixon.

Seventy-one per cent of the Democrats in the former category voted for the senator; 54 per cent of those in the latter group cast their ballots for the President.

Note that Robinson does not argue that newspaper attitudes determine the election outcome (except in a rare three-way race such as 1968). If they did, we would never have a Democratic President.

Eighty per cent of the nation's papers supported Nixon in 1968, and 90 per cent in 1972. (With this kind of press support, one wonders why the President felt constantly harassed by journalists.) However, one of the most striking long-range developments in American politics is the rise of the Independent voter.

Independents, for instance, constitute 38 per cent of registered voters in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Since Robinson's data shows that Independents are the most susceptible to newspaper opinion, one can anticipate increasing journalistic clout, particularly since he further indicates that it is in close elections that Independents are most influenced.

At this point, somebody is bound to ask: "What about TV?"

Well, here again, Robinson turns up with a distinctive and fascinating hypothesis, namely that "the public ranked television as its most important source of campaign news, but they were more often persuaded by newspapers."

On this score, I have my doubts. The problem with television is that overtly the networks make no endorsements, but the way they handle "news" has a considerable subliminal impact on the viewer.

Here I part company completely with the conservatives who accuse the networks of a "liberal" bias. The handling of the 1968 Chicago convention, the constant and excessive coverage of violence, disruption and the witless antics of the "counterculture," led a significant number of Americans to vote for Nixon as the man who would end all that noise.

As I contended in "TV Guide" a while ago, although the networks were not in the conservative bag, they were doing for nothing what they should have been paid for.

But this is beside the point. What the Robinson study should do is generate a good deal of thought on some sort of "fairness doctrine" in the press.

Robinson states that "the newspaper endorsement is perceived as a non-partisan message which appears to cut through the confusing arguments of the campaign and reduce them to a single conclusion."

Surely no one will propose that editors become "nonpartisan" — that would be deadly — but perhaps considerable meditation should go into the way endorsements are handled.

Reducing complicated issues "to a single conclusion" should not be a whimsical act.

Do not become disillusioned if some disapprove of your ideas and are unwilling to fall in with your plans. If understanding and tolerant, you just COULD bring them around.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Make no decisions until all avenues have been explored. Should temporary deterrents appear, handle discerningly, with clear-headedness, smart control.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Your ingenuity, foresight and intuition should be at a peak now. A good time to look into new offerings and gauge their real value.

CAPRICORN

Stellar influences now warn against misleading influences, deceit and dubious schemes. Be alert and counteract with your innate integrity and good judgment.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

If you really have time for "extras" on a busy day, take them on judiciously. Don't overtax energies and don't hesitate to ask for help if you find yourself in a bind.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Plenty of competition about, but don't let it dismay you. Anchor your sails to the well-founded and engage opponents with enthusiasm.

YOU BORN TODAY are an idealist and a humanitarian at heart. You are imaginative, intuitive, poetic and something of a dreamer. But, as is not always the case with dreamers, you have the happy faculty of making your dreams come true. Your versatility is outstanding, but you express yourself best through music, writing or painting. Your love for home and family is boundless and you will even sacrifice yourself to bring happiness to those you love. You would make an outstanding teacher; could also succeed in medicine or in any field involving travel.

Ohio Perspective

'Name Game' dead in Ohio?

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Observers of Ohio's political scene are optimistic that the so-called name game that let obscure newcomers win important statewide election races finally is ended.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and state Democratic Chairman William A. Lavelle credit their party's new endorsement procedure for the defeat of such politically inexperienced candidates as John F. Kennedy of Cleveland and J. W. Brown of Reynoldsburg.

Kennedy, who won the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in 1970, lost May 7 to state Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton, the endorsed Democrat with several years legislative experience behind him.

The same was true in the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, won by state Rep. Richard F. Celeste of Lakewood, the endorsed candidate among a field of nine.

J. W. Brown of Reynoldsburg, an attorney who practices in Columbus, ran against Celeste and had party leaders worried because of his good showing in pre-election polls. At one point Celeste termed him the front-runner.

Lavelle defended the state party's decision to endorse candidates "not as an attempt to defeat anyone" but to see that candidate records and experience got across to the voters.

The organization spent more than $200,000 on its endorsed slate, most of it going to Celeste and Hall.

In addition to J. W. Brown in the lieutenant governor's race, William Brown, a newcomer from Wintersville, Ohio, threw his hat into the ring for secretary of state and finished second behind Hall—232,596 to 215,690—in the final unofficial count.

Kennedy was third with 182,537.

Another familiar name among Republicans—O'Neill—was offered to Democrats in the lieutenant governor's race. William O'Neill, youthful Columbus public relations man in politics for the first time, polled 125,227 votes and finished fourth behind Celeste, Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese of Cleveland and J. W. Brown.

The name game wasn't really tested among Republicans in the primary, old timers such as Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown will be on the general election ballot again this fall.

Their credentials as vote-getters are well established, however.

Consensus endorsements by a GOP screening committee apparently discouraged some potential candidates early this year and the Republicans wound up with two new faces on their statewide ticket—Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk for U.S. Senate and Prosecutor George C. Smith of Franklin County for attorney general.

Voters had a choice between two big GOP names in the primary race for state auditor with former Rep. Roger Tracy Jr. of Columbus outdistancing Thomas Cloud of Dayton.

Tracy is the son and grandson of former auditors. Cloud has the name, but is not related to the immediate past auditor, Roger Cloud.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Let Dad have his fun on the dance floor

DEAR ABBY: I have a most unusual father. He's close to 80, but looks 60, and he knows it. He never misses an opportunity to tell his age because everyone raves about how "young" he looks.

Whenever Dad goes to a wedding or a party where there's music he gets carried away and thinks he's Fred Astaire. Everyone assumes he's tipsy, but all he drinks is soda pop.

He's a handsome man and a good dancer, but not good enough to put on a solo performance, which he always does. Mom died five years ago, and Dad remarried and his wife can't control him worth a hoot.

My problem: My son is being married soon. Should I take Dad aside and ask him to refrain from making a donkey of himself at the wedding reception? Or should I let him do his usual act and try to remain calm? All our friends and relatives know what a show-off he is but the bride's family has never seen him in action.

I love my father, but when he's on, I blush like crazy, a smile freezes on my face, and I clench my teeth until my jaws ache. What to do?

HIS DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: An 80 year old man who looks like he's 60 and thinks he's Fred Astaire (and on soda pop yet) is entitled to have a little fun. Let Dad have a good time. And thank heavens you're not slipping chicken soup to him in a rest home every day.

DEAR ABBY: I would like a wrestling partner. Someone who would like to wrestle for fun and exercise. I am not looking to be a champion.

I am 66 years old, in good health, and would like to stay that way as long as possible. I've never wrestled but that type of exercise appeals to me. Where should I look?

WANTS TO WRESTLE

DEAR WANTS: Go to the YMCA (if you're looking for a male partner, otherwise, go to the YWCA) and ask if there is a wrestler who would like to work out with you. If there is, you won't have to twist his arm.

DEAR ABBY: Here is the problem that has our whole family divided: Shirley is married to Robert. Shirley's sister is married to Charles. What are Robert and Charles to each other? I say they are brothers-in-law. Someone in the family says Charles and Robert are not related at all.

If that is true, I cannot understand why Robert's children call Charles "Uncle," and Charles' children call Robert "Uncle."

Please rush your answer as this problem has thrown a wet blanket over our family reunions for years.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

DEAR ALL: Technically, a brother-in-law is either the brother of one's wife or the husband of one's sister. However, it's customary for husbands and wives to accept their spouses' relatives by marriage as their own.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "K" WHOSE CONSCIENCE BOTHERED HER FOR SO MANY YEARS: I took care of that little matter for you and now you are square. Pleasant dreams.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, May 14th, the 134th day of 1974. There are 231 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1787, a convention met in Philadelphia to draw up the U.S. constitution.

On this date:
In 1643, Louis the XIV became King of France.

In 1804, Captain Meriwether Lewis and William Clark set out from St. Louis on their expedition to the Pacific coast.

In 1904, the first Olympic games to be held in the United States opened at St. Louis.

In 1942, Congress established the WAACS — The Women's Auxiliary Army Corps.

In 1948, Britain ended its rule in Palestine, and the independent state of Israel was proclaimed.

In 1965, Britain's Queen Elizabeth dedicated a shrine in memory of the late President John Kennedy at Runnymede, England.

Ten years ago ... the United States tightened controls on trade with Cuba by ordering American exporters to obtain licenses for the sale of food and rugs.

Five years ago ... in Malaysia, Prime Minister Abdul Rahman suspended the constitution during racial strife.

One year ago ... the first big American Skylab space station was launched.

Today's birthdays: orchestra conductor Otto Klemperer is 89 years old. Opera singer Patrice Munsel is 49. Singer Eddy Arnold is 56.

Thought for today: There is no education like adversity — Disraeli, British Prime Minister, 1804-1881.

Mann to take Council seat at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — David Mann is expected to be appointed by Cincinnati City Council Wednesday to replace Gerald Springer who resigned after becoming involved in a northern Kentucky prostitution case.

Mann, a Democrat, finished 13th in the race for nine seats at the last council election, was nominated by Councilman William Chenault, whom Springer designated to name his successor.

Springer quit when it was disclosed he was a witness in a prostitution trial. He admitted patronizing a health club for prostitution and checks written by him were used in evidence.

Springer considered asking reappointment to council, but Chenault refused, citing public pressure.

syndication or possible network use. The company, which owns TV stations in Washington, Hartford, Conn., and Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., currently is cooking up:
—Three hour-long black music specials.

—A 13-part historical series, each segment an hour, called "The American Documents." The topics range from the history of presidential inaugurations to American propaganda during World War I.

—Eight specials involving various plays performed by England's Young Vic troupe, an offshoot of the National Theater Company. It'll tape shows for Post-Newsweek Stations, Inc., this year and next.

The man overseeing all this is Ray Hubbard, the company's vice president for programming and executive producer for all the shows.

Hubbard said, "The American Documents" series already is being offered in syndication and the black music specials will be offered soon.

He said it isn't known yet how the Young Vic series will be sold. "We're talking to possible syndicators and also to companies that might buy one or more of the plays and place them themselves, either on a spot basis or on one of the networks."

Hubbard, who declined to say how much the Young Vic series cost other than to note "it's the most expensive single project we've ever done."

He was asked why it took the step, considering the cost and risks.

"It's because we feel that one of the things we have to do to keep our stations operating as well as possible is to supply productions you can't buy anywhere else," he said.

"And the things we're doing are not the sort of things that normally get into syndication."

The company's production efforts, he says, have the effect of slaying two birds with one stone. It both helps his stations' programming and offers the prospect of recouping the production cost or even turning a profit by selling the shows to other stations.

"And if I can fill my own program requirements with taste and class by adding just a bit more money," Hubbard said, "I can move it into a level where it's eminently marketable. Because it solves somebody else's program problems, too."

4 arrested in murder of nurse

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Police early today raided a north Philadelphia home and arrested three men accused in the shotgun slaying of a Columbus, Ohio, nurse last week.

A fourth man was arrested and charged with aiding the trio. All the men arrested were from Columbus.

John W. Harris, 21; James J. Royster, 21, and Clarence E. Smith, 22, have been charged with aggravated murder in the slaying of Jeanette Nichols, a nurse at Columbus' St. Anthony Hospital, who police say was abducted on her way to work last Wednesday night.

Mrs. Nichols' body was found later in a wooded area in northeast Columbus. Authorities said she had been raped.

The fourth man arrested was identified as Eric G. Maurice, 20.

Two officers from Columbus were present when the arrests were made, shortly after midnight.

The heaviest brain ever recorded was that of Ivan Sergeyevich Turgenyev, the Russian author. His brain weighed 4 pounds 6.96 ounces.

Asthma treatment breakthrough seen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A New York physician says he has made breakthrough in the treatment of asthma patients with an aerosol which does not have the side effects of normal medication with steroids.

Dr. M. Henry Williams, Jr., of the Albert Einstein Medical School, presented his paper on the use of corticosteroid Monday before 2,000 delegates to the American Lung Association convention.

Williams said inhaling a tiny amount of a corticosteroid designed for use on the skin can have a beneficial effect in treating asthmatic attacks and eliminating invalidism.

Normal use of steroids orally, such as prednisone and hydrocortisone, can cause high blood pressure, swelling, obesity and suppression of the adrenal glands, he said.

Dr. Williams said he found that, if triamcinolone acetonide, a corticosteroid developed for application to small areas of the skin, is inhaled from an aerosol, it enables the patient to breathe easily.

The method was tested on 40 patients. Twenty-five were able to discontinue use of oral steroids. Nine had to take the oral treatment temporarily during flareups, two continued on smaller doses and four were treatment failures, Williams said.

Tests on normal persons have shown that the maximum dose used in the study had no effect on levels of cortisol in the blood, he said.

In another development, Samuel Williams, a biomedical engineer from Philadelphia, Pa., demonstrated a new, light weight, portable stethoscope recording system, powered by batteries.

The recorder enables the examining physician to play back heart beats and other sounds taken during examinations of patients.

World War I Auxiliary officers are installed

Mrs. Cloyce Copley, president of World War I Auxiliary, invited members of the Auxiliary and three guests to her home Friday for a noon luncheon and afternoon meeting and installation of new officers.

Thirteen members including three guests from 461 Columbus, enjoyed the day. Members attending were Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Mrs. Jess Whitmer, Mrs. Lee Draper, Mrs. J. Paul Strevey, Mrs. C. P. Hackett, Mrs. Calvin Johnson, Mrs. George Hooks, Mrs. Hile Kennedy and Mrs. Allen Sells.

Visitors were Mrs. J. G. Schmitt, installing president; Mrs. Henry Stertz, installing conductress; and Mrs. F. E. Crum, installing chaplain.

Those installed were: President - Mrs. Nellie Kenney; senior vice president - Mrs. Leota Johnson; junior vice president - Mrs. Eunice Draper; chaplain - Mrs. Gladys Strevey; conductress - Mrs. Mabel Whitmer; treasurer - Mrs. Lucy Sells; secretary - Mrs. C. P. Hackett; and guard - Mrs. George Hooks.

The appointed officers are: Publicity - Mrs. Hackett; patriotic instructor -

Mrs. Copley; hospital and VAWS chairman - Mrs. Margaret Cokonougher; and trustees - Mrs. Copley, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Draper.

Mrs. Copley opened the afternoon session in ritualistic form with Mrs. Strevey and Mrs. Whitmer chaplain and conductress at the altar service.

Inspection of dues cards and response to roll call was made by the conductress, Mrs. Whitmer. Minutes, correspondence and General Orders were read by Mrs. Sells.

Legislative chairman Mrs. Kenney reported on the proposed bills in the 'Torch' and asked members to write their Congressmen to get Social Security exempt from being counted as income for pension purposes.

A report on the shutins was made of eight cards, and three calls.

The auditing committee, composed of Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Draper reported on the quarterly audit. Mrs. Copley reported she and the Rev. Mr. Copley had made reservations to attend the National Convention Aug. 31 - Sept. 4 in Kansas, City, Mo.

Brides-elect feted

Miss Betty Tabit

Miss Betty Tabit, bride-elect of Ralph Jones, was guest of honor at a bridal shower held in the home of Mrs. Harry Haines Jr. Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Ursula Williams, Mrs. Clara Pollard, and the Misses Irene Sheets and Esther Collins.

Those who were present for the evening were Carolyn Brewer, Connie Scheir, Peggy Self, Janet Deakney, Kathy Wright, Mary Alice Smith, Ann Everhart, Mary Secrets, Pamela Jennings, Pam Starr, Lola Maxwell and Doris McQuinniff.

Sending gifts were Mary Baughn, Ann Knapp, Jane Gardner, Lavon Mowery, Rosalie Boldman, Pauline Laycock, Lucille Allison, Lucille Jordan, Denise Butler, Jean Blaine, Juanita Seyfang, Lynn Lower, Jackie and Tracie Swinning and Betty Jean Henson.

Games were won by Mary Secrets, Connie Scheir, Pam Jennings and Janet Deakney, who in turn presented them to the honor guest.

Cake, ice cream, punch and coffee were served and the remainder of the evening was spent visiting.

Miss Margaret Milstead

Miss Margaret Lynn Milstead, bride-elect of Patrick Allen Lewis, was the honored guest at a bridal shower held in Fellowship Hall at the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church. Hostesses were Mrs. Stan Stanley and Mrs. Doris Diffendal. Contests were won by Mrs. Thane Chitty and Mrs. Neil Pendry, who presented the gifts to Miss Milstead.

The gift table was decorated with a white umbrella supported with blue candles in gold candle sticks holders and matching ribbons.

Snacks, mints, nuts, cookies and punch were served.

Invited guests were Mrs. John Milstead, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Leonard Milstead and Mrs. Dorothy Bowen, grandmothers of the bride-elect; Mrs. Allen Lewis, mother of the prospective groom; Mrs. Rose Crothers and Mrs. W.R. Lewis of Wilmington, grandmothers of the prospective groom; Mrs. Robert L. Bowen, of Danvers, Ill.; Mrs. Roy Bocco, Mrs. Wayne Dowler, Mrs. Jean Warner and Miss Susan Milstead, of

Miss Gale Cox

A miscellaneous bridal shower took place in the home of Miss Mary McConkey for Miss Gale Cox, bride-elect of Jeff Thompson. Miss Susan Pavey and Miss Pam Hedrick assisted in the hospitalities. Games were won by Gayle Rulon, Teresa Estle, Edith Ingram and Lyn Mason, who in turn presented them to the guest of honor.

Cake, punch, mints and nuts were served buffet style from a lace covered table with pink candles at each end. A pink umbrella was suspended over the table, and a cake inscribed with "Gale and Jeff" decorated with pink and blue roses centered the table. A pink, blue and white color scheme prevailed.

Mrs. Morris guest at 'surprise' party

Mrs. Mina Morris was guest of honor at a "surprise" birthday dinner when several friends and relatives assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caig, 6631 Jones Rd. NE, Sunday, following worship service at the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Morris was 84 years old.

Those celebrating the occasion with her were Mrs. Frank Taylor and son, Charles, of St. Charles, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Groveport; Ken Krantz of Wooster; Rick Craig of Rio Grande; Dave Craig of Westerville; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. George Frank and Miss Dal Miller, all of Columbus; and the Craigs.

Money Does Matter . . .

By J. W. Wallace

COULD BE EASY & SIMPLE - BUT, YOU MUST MAKE THE START!

Why do so many of us continue, day after day, without any REAL understanding of what we are doing with our money — aware only that there never seems to be enough of it?

We're prone to be "hung up", frightened with the thought that we DO need a plan, that we MUST set up a budget. And, while admitting the need, we continue to find excuses for not doing what we know we MUST do.

Why not start, easy-like, one big toe in the water before plunging in?

For one calendar month keep a record of every penny's worth of income — and of every cent spent, spent for whatever reason. That's all there is to a "start."

At the end of the month you'll find that you have started — and that you have something to go on. You'll know WHAT your income is, actually — WHERE it's going.

Then, take an inventory. Put down your resources, what you have, what you owe, what you WANT.

Before you know it you'll have that PLAN, that BUDGET, and you'll be started on a sensible 'money management' operation.

The 10th of May is significant to all of us in various ways, but to Mr. and Mrs. William L. DeWees May 10th, 1974 bears special importance because they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on that day. All of us at The First National Bank wish them many more memorable anniversaries.

Phil French has just opened his new marine and gun supply store, known as the "Lakewood Sportsman". We are sure all you outdoor enthusiasts will find a visit to this new facility to be most rewarding and informative.

Good Luck to Glenn Hemsworth and Skeet Mann in the Bank Administration Institutes Golf Match tomorrow.

Purpose, knowledge of where we're going — we all must have it. That's what we at our Bank, your friendly First National Bank of Washington C. H., are here for — to help you plan and work out your financial "plan". Helping you do that, the advice and guidance needed, cost nothing. Try it, you'll like it!

MISS DIANA MARTINDILL

June wedding is planned

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martindill, Creek Rd. (Rt. 6), have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diana, to Rick Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, New Holland.

Miss Martindill is a 1973 graduate of Miami Trace High School.

Mr. Williams is a member of the graduating class of 1974 of MTHS, and is employed at Phillips Trailer Rental.

Mrs. Dove Circle hostess

Mrs. T. Mark Dove opened her home to members of Circle 4 of the Grace United Methodist Church. Mrs. Heber Deer, president of the circle, gave the devotion. Members answered roll call by reading something pertaining to 'Mother.'

It was stated that 46 calls had been made to shut-ins, funeral homes and hospitals. Mrs. Robert I. Case read the minutes, and Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars gave the treasurer's report. It was voted to make another payment on the circle pledge to the church. Mrs. Deer made a report of church day activities and plans.

Mrs. Edward Bower was celebrating her birthday, and the group sang "Happy Birthday" to her and presented her with gifts. Mrs. Dove presented the program and each member was asked to write a resume of the highlights or memorable events of her life. A discussion followed.

Refreshments of ice cream, hickory nut cake, strawberries, nuts, fruit punch and ice tea were served to Mrs. Deer, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Sollars, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Walter L. Parrett, Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, Mrs. William D. Shepard, Mrs. Jean S. Nisley, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, Miss Helen M. Perrill and Mrs. Dove.

Cattle producers caught in bind

AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some easing of feed prices, new figures by the Agriculture Department continue to show cattle producers are caught in an unprofitable bind that has persisted for the past six months.

Consequently, according to USDA experts, the supply of feedlot cattle is expected to remain tight, at least until — and if — the much-awaited 1974 corn crop materializes in record proportions.

According to the latest farm price figures, corn on April 15 averaged $2.41 per bushel nationally, down sharply from $2.68 a month earlier and well below the record $2.76 set in mid-February.

Market prices of fed cattle, meanwhile, have jogged up and down a bit but mostly have held in the range of $40 to $42 per 100 pounds.

A year ago, when fed cattle were selling for a little more than they are now, corn was around $1.40 per bushel meaning that 100 pounds of market steer then sold for enough to buy about 30 bushels of corn. Lately, 100 pounds of live steer have been worth only around one-half the amount of corn of a year ago.

Department economists have developed statistics to show what the cattle-corn situation means even further to producers. During the first quarter of 1974 those figures spelled out one thing: the feedlot business lost money.

During the January-March period, according to the department's Economic Research Service, it cost $40.94 in feed alone to produce 100 pounds of weight gain on a steer.

During the same three months, according to ERS, choice-grade fed steers at Omaha averaged $45.40 per 100 pounds. But feed is only part of the cost of production, and when all expenses are added the January-March cost of 100 pounds of live steer was $51.13 per hundredweight.

That meant a loss of around $6 per 100 pounds — more than $60 per head — for the first quarter, assuming that all feed and other costs were paid for at prices prevailing during that time.

The figures do not take in account prices paid by producers for feeder livestock purchased earlier, grain laid away months before or other expenses incurred in advance.

But the quarterly figures do serve to illustrate on a comparative basis what has happened in the feedlot business, and that includes smaller farm feeders as well as the big commercial facilities.

For example:

In the first quarter of 1973, when fed market cattle were bringing about what they are now, it took only $18.49 worth of feed to produce 100 pounds of steer. The total cost, including all other expenses, was $29.21 per 100 pounds, meaning that the profit margin in January-March 1973 was a delight to producers.

Put another way, according to first-quarter figures by USDA, the cost of producing feedlot cattle more than doubled in 12 months while prices producers received remained about the same.

LIONS SPEAKER — State Sen. Donald E. (Buz) Lukens, R-Middletown, will be the guest speaker at the regular semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Lions Club at 7 o'clock tonight in the Country Club. Members of the Lions Club will also be saluting honor students from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools during the meeting.

Hero worship shifts with age

SEATTLE (AP)—A recent survey of 100 pupils in Seattle and Everett schools showed apparent differences in hero worship.

A class of Seattle fifth graders most admired athletes, movie and TV stars. But a high school freshman said, "How can you admire anyone if you only see them on TV? You have to be able to talk with them and question them."

One teen-ager said "Maybe people just don't need heroes anymore."

Kentucky wants men for slaying

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky authorities have filed extradition proceedings against two Michigan men for the 1971 hijack-slaying of an Ohio truck driver on Interstate 75 in Boone County.

Dennis McDonald, 26, of Lincoln Park, Mich., and Richard Dix Stewart, 49, of Detroit, were apprehended in April by the FBI and the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Rufus Day, 51, Trenton, Ohio, was beaten to death in the cab of his truck. He was employed by the Harvey Transport Co., of Monroe, Ohio.

The Michigan men were indicted on murder charges recently by the Boone County Grand Jury.

Ohio's 88 counties. Of this amount, $3,298,981.87 went to 86 counties to help cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations, according to Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy auditor.

Noble and Van Wert counties did not receive any of this money. The general relief subsidy is derived solely from state revenue.

The bulk of distribution $5,566,484.46, went to all the counties for their administration and purchase of family and children services. Such revenue comes from both federal and state funds. Aid for Dependent Children is the primary family and children service.

Distributions of welfare assistance money to surrounding counties during March included:

Clinton, $19,273.28; Greene, $90,392.82; Highland, $17,494.08; Madison, $16,084.46; Pickaway, $16,205.98, and Ross, $45,631.11.

The first use of lenses to form a telescope is attributed to Roger Bacon of England, who died in 1292.

Ohio's 'liquor business' explained to Kiwanis Club

An inside look at the Ohio Department of Liquor Control was presented to members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club during their regular weekly dinner meeting Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

J. Fred Rose, chief of the department's legal section, told Kiwanians that the agency was established in 1934 as a result of the Liquor Control Act which was approved by the legislature following prohibition.

He said Ohio and 17 other states are "controlled" as all distilled spirits are sold in state liquor stores while malt beverages and wine are sold in various licensed premises. In an "open" state, both distilled and malt beverages are

Suit planned on Cincinnati school setup

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's embattled conservative board of education voted to file suit against a federal agency and ask a U.S. District Court to uphold its neighborhood school system.

"It's about time we faced up to this," said President Charles Lindberg, a lawyer.

He said the suit would be filed today. The action beats civil rights groups to the punch, he said. The local National Association for the Advancement of Colored People chapter has threatened for months to file suit.

The suit names the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which April 25 impounded $911,918 in emergency school relief funds, as defendant.

The HEW office in Chicago said the new board failed to implement the total desegregation policy adopted Dec. 10 by the outgoing, lame duck, liberal-controlled board.

The suit challenges the right of the HEW to withhold federal aid, charging it was done "for the purpose of coercing the board to abandon its policy of providing a quality integrated education to the children of Cincinnati through the maintenance of neighborhood schools, and for the purpose of coercing the board to overturn and restructure the system of public education now in operation in Cincinnati."

The new board implemented a teacher integration plan and is creating alternative schools. Neither has been approved by HEW's Chicago office.

Youngsters decide what's important

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Youngsters in some Columbus Public Schools are spending an hour or so each week talking about their individuality and feelings and deciding what's important in life.

The pupils are learning about decision-making, value-sorting, self-awareness and self-validation as part of a pilot project in career education.

The "Learning to Live" program is to motivate kids to become part of the world of work, said Joe Cofer, a career education coordinator.

Plan public hearing on jetport proposal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Lake Erie Regional Transportation Authority (LERTA) is planning a public hearing for the end of this month on the proposed jetport for north-eastern Ohio.

Authority President E.W. Sloan said Monday the hearing May 30 or 31 will give the board a chance to sample public sentiment before deciding whether to continue a feasibility study for the jetport.

Sloan said that decision is to be made by June 10.

He said a major consideration will be a consultant's report on anticipated future air traffic demand at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

ETV blankets Ohio, school chief reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is "virtually blanketed" with educational television, state School Supt. Martin W. Essex said Monday following approval of $3.3 million for educational television by the Ohio Board of Education.

The total includes $1.34 million in state subsidies to Ohio's eight non-profit educational television corporations. The rest of the money will be spent for program leasing, filmed instruction, and broadcast services this school year and next.

Lung cancer, the leading killer of all cancers, has increased by about 100 per cent for both men and women. Deaths are expected to rise to 75,000 in 1974 from 72,000 in 1973.

Slate hearing about day care

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans will have a chance to express their opinion on state day care services and licensing during hearings around the state in June and July, the Department of Public Welfare announced Monday.

Hearings will be scheduled in Athens, Canton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Toledo. The welfare department's Day Care Advisory Committee will sponsor the hearings, and use the findings for a report on Ohio day care needs to be presented to the department this fall.

Tigers bomb Blue Lions, 14-3

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Writer

After a spirit-lifting victory on Saturday against county and SCOL rival Miami Trace, the first win in two weeks, the Washington C.H. Blue Lions got bombed on their home grounds by South Central Ohio League foe Circleville. The Tigers pounded three Lion pitchers for 14 runs and 13 hits en route to their 14-3 rout. The loss is the Lions tenth loss of their last 12 games.

Tiger pitcher Doug Roll hurled a neat one-hitter in which he gave up no earned runs, while striking out eight and walking three. Craig Stebelton started the game for the Lions and took the loss. He pitched only one inning giving up three hits, five runs and three walks. Junior Larry Dumford pitched the second and third innings, giving up seven hits, four earned runs and striking out two. Senior Greg McCune finished the game, yielding four runs on three hits while striking out three and walking five.

Circleville jumped out in front in the top of the first. Leadoff hitter Brent Mancini drew a walk and scored on a Bill Davis double to right-center field. First baseman John Thomas then unloaded a double of his own, scoring Davis. Then after Tim Mace walked, right fielder Tom McNaughten smashed a three-run home run to make the score 5-0 right from the start.

Washington C.H. got back one run on an unearned basis. Mark Johnson reached on an error, as did Alan Coppock. Then Johnson scored on a ground out by right fielder David Rittenhouse.

The Tigers added to their lead in the second on a single by Mancini, Davis' second consecutive double and a two-run error on a ball hit by third sacker Biff Bumgarner. Three more runs in the third put the game away for Circleville. Consecutive singles by Fred Scherer, Mancini, Davis, Thomas and Mace made the score 10-1.

Circleville added even more to their mountain of runs in the fifth. A single by Rick Bevins and Jim McNaughten, coupled with walks to George Moore, Mace, Bumgarner and Roll made the score an impossible 13-1.

The Lions finally got back on the scoreboard in the fifth when Randy Sparkman singled, went to second on the walk issued to catcher Duke Willis and scored with Willis on successive errors on balls hit by Johnson and Craig Shaffer.

The Tigers got their final run on a walk to Mace, a single by Bumgarner and a ground out by McNaughten. Each team used a total of fifteen men in the game and Circleville sent an amazing total of 41 batters to the plate.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John Bench's hitting, combined with an upsurge in Cincinnati pitching, gave the Reds a 4-1 triumph over San Francisco and moved Cincinnati within a half game of the third place Giants in the National League West.

"It really feels good to be swinging the bat," said Bench who had a home run and a single Monday night, giving the Reds their third straight win and four victories in the last five games.

Bench broke out of his slump May 3 in Chicago when Manager George "Sparky" Anderson moved the .194 hitter from fifth to third in the lineup. Since then Bench has had 13 hits in 29 trips to the plate including three home runs. He is now batting .265.

But losing pitcher John D'Acquisto, who beat the Reds 4-3 in San Francisco, was not about to be scared by Bench.

"I had to challenge him," said the lefthander, who served up the home run in the fourth inning. "He was just better than me—this time."

"It was the kind of pitch you look for all day in batting practice," said Bench, "but he's got a lot of stuff and he's learning to be a good pitcher."

Tony Perez followed Bench with a triple and scored on Merv Rettenmund's ground out.

Cincinnati got two insurance runs in the seventh when Pete Rose doubled home Cesar Geronimo and scored on Joe Morgan's second hit of the game. Morgan had gone 0-17 before the game and hit a line single to right in the third.

"It was a bullet," said Morgan with a straight face, "anything is a bullet when you're 9-for-17."

San Francisco's lone run came in the fifth when Gary Matthews hit his fourth home run of the season.

Giants' first base coach Joe Amalfitano was ejected by third base umpire Bill Williams in the seventh inning when Dave Kingman's bunt, which appeared to hit the third base bag, was declared foul.

"I'm gonna keep everybody in suspense," grinned Reds third baseman Dan Driessen afterward when asked if the ball was actually foul. Kingman struck out leaving Matthews stranded.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox was livid after the play and declined to be quoted. His team is now 7-4 on its current road trip.

Don Gullett, with relief from Pedro

Borbon in the eighth, who needed only five pitches to end the game, was the winner, 3-3. D'Acquisto is 2-4.

Gullett's victory, plus good efforts by Fred Norman and Clay Kirby winning a doubleheader over Houston Sunday, have lowered the earned run average of Cincinnati pitching to 1.19 in the last nine games.

Mike Caldwell goes to the mound tonight for the Giants against Cincinnati's Jack Billingham. Both have 5-1 records.

Panthers edged by Indians, 3-2

HILLSBORO — Three unearned runs by the Indians eliminated nearly all Panther hopes for a South Central Ohio League championship, as Hillsboro nipped Miami Trace 3-2, Monday afternoon.

With the victory, Hillsboro is just a few percentage points out of first place in the SCOL race. The Indians are now 8-3 in the league and 13-4 for the season. Unioto leads the league with a 7-2 mark and 18-2 overall.

Miami Trace falls to a league record of 5-5 for the season. Overall, the Panthers are now 7-12.

Hillsboro's winning run came in the bottom half of the fifth inning. With two outs, third baseman Bob Seeling drew a walk. Seeling was caught in a run-down between first and second, but a wild throw allowed him to coast into second safely. The error proved costly, as Dave Larimer followed with a single to score Seeling.

Miami Trace held the lead twice during the course of the game. The Panthers led 1-0 after the first frame and 2-1 after the third stanza.

Miami Trace's first run was unearned. Tom Pfaff led off the game with a double, Greg Cobb walked and Tom Riley also drew a base on balls to load the bases. Pfaff came across the plate on an error.

Hillsboro tied the game in the bottom of the second. Larimer reached first on an error and advanced to second on a fielder's choice. Kevin Bailey's two out single scored Larimer.

In the third, the Panthers quickly regained the lead. Cobb doubled and scored on Riley's single.

Mike McGinniss and Ron Gleadle each collected singles for the Indians in the fourth. With two outs, an error on a ground ball hit by Steve Coy tied the game for the second time.

In suffering the defeat, the Panthers' Randy Reiber allowed only six hits. He walked two and struck out six.

Larry Gibbs registered the victory. While yielding four hits, he struck out seven and walked one.

Miami Trace has three SCOL games scheduled for the remainder of the week. The Panthers host Madison Plains at 2:45 this afternoon, host Circleville on Wednesday and travel to Unioto on Saturday.

Boston defeats Tribe on Ellis' home run

By The Associated Press

"It was a bad pitch," John Ellis said happily.

"It was a bad pitch," Luis Tiant said sadly.

It was a good pitch for Cleveland and a crummy one for Boston.

It was a pitch that ended up in the left field seats, a three-run homer by Ellis in the first inning, a booming shot off the troubled Tiant that catapulted the Indians on their way to a 4-1 victory over the Red Sox Monday night.

Also in the American League, Milwaukee edged into first place in the tight East Division by beating Baltimore 9-4. California belted sagging Texas 8-4. Minnesota turned back the Chicago White Sox 7-5 and Oakland shellacked Kansas City 11-2.

"It was a bad pitch. It was a slider that was just hanging right there over the plate," said Ellis. "Tiant doesn't give you many of those pitches and I was lucky to take advantage of it. If he didn't do that, he probably would have shut us out."

"It was a bad pitch," Tiant agreed. "But you can't win without getting runs. We haven't been getting any runs recently. I feel good and I've been pitching well and that's all that matters to me."

Brewers 9, Orioles 4

"I think we're an all-around better club and this division is going to be something," said Manager Del Crandall, whose Brewers moved into first with a .519 percentage, just .002 ahead of Baltimore, .003 in front of

Cleveland and .005 ahead of the idle New York Yankees.

Nine Milwaukee players drove in the nine Milwaukee runs, with Dave May, Bobby Mitchell and Johnny Briggs slugging solo homers to support Ed Sprague, who pitched six strong innings in his first start in nearly two years to get his first victory as a Brewer.

Golf league opens with make-up match

Top Flites took the first round lead in the Wednesday Night Golf League, as the six teams played in a postponed match at the Washington Country Club.

The Top Flites defeated the Reds 14-6. In other action, the Tourneys edged the Titleists 11-9 and the Maxflis stopped Blu Max 13½-6½.

In the first flight, Irvin Reeves of the Maxflis and Dick Andrews of the Reds tied for honors with identical 43's. Jim Wightman of the Tourneys shot a 42 to lead all golfers and the second flight. Lindy Sharrett of the Tourneys carded a 46 to lead the third flight. Fourth flight honors went to Top Flites substitute Herb Sollars, who had a 44. In the fifth flight, Don Gibbs of the Top Flites had a 46.

On Wednesday, the Titleists play the Blue Max, Reds play the Tourneys and the Top Flites play the Maxflis. Everett Rudolph is the general chairman of the league.

Search widens for 2 escapees

NASHVILLE (AP) — A massive search for three state prison escapees convicted of killing a Nashville policeman continues today with help from the FBI.

FBI agents joined the search for the trio Monday after U.S. Magistrate Kent Sandridge II issued an unlawful flight warrant for the three. Also involved in the search are agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification and Nashville police officers.

Three men were arrested Monday in Chattanooga and authorities held them for questioning in connection with the escape, but comparisons of photographs showed that they were not the escapees.

Chattanooga police said the three were picked up originally because they were acting suspiciously.

The fugitives, William Garvin Allen, 29, of Old Hickory, Stephen Parker, 30, and Ralph Canady, 33, both of Cincinnati, escaped Sunday afternoon wearing civilian clothes smuggled into the prison by visitors.

They were convicted of the January, 1968, slaying of Nashville patrolman Charles Wayne Thomasson. They are also charged with killing patrolman Thomas Johnson, but they have not stood trial on that charge yet.

Service Notes

Serving in Thailand

Now serving at Ubon Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, with a Pacific Air Forces, unit is U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Robert E. Clyburn, son of Mrs. Margaret Clyburn, of Greenfield.

Col. Clyburn, an assistant chief of logistics, was previously assigned to Tempelhof Central Airport, Germany.

A 1942 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School, the colonel received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1949 from the University of Cincinnati and was commissioned there as a distinguished graduate of the ROTC program.

Assigned to Minot

Airman Michael L. Gillenwater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gillenwater, of Greenfield, has been assigned to Minot Air Force Base, N.D., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Force command's Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command for further training and duty in the administrative field.

Joins NATO exercise

U.S. Air Force SSgt. Michael J. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Schmidt, of Greenfield, recently participated in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) training exercise in Germany.

SSgt. Weaver, an air traffic controller at Bitburg Air Force Base, Germany, with the 2139th Communications Squadron, and fellow airmen provided vital support for flying units participating in the maneuvers.

The annual exercise, designated "Crested Cap 74", was the fifth in a series demonstrating the U.S. contribution to NATO.

The training began in early March with the deployment of Air Force F-4 Phantom aircraft and personnel to Hann AB, Germany, where they supported concentrated flight training in the European area.

NATO, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary, maintains a state of readiness to cope with aggression against any of its 15 member nations.

SSgt. Weaver, a 1968 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School, attended Ohio University, Athens, before joining the Air Force.

Each of the three was serving a 99-year sentence in Thomasson's death.

The two officers were shot the night of Jan. 16 on a dead end street in Nashville after Johnson had halted the occupants of a car for questioning about forged money orders.

State prison Warden Jim Rose said prison officials are investigating how the men managed to escape. He said some adjustments would be made in the security arrangements.

The three apparently walked out of the prison in civilian clothes during a picnic given for inmates and visitors.

New process makes milk digestible

KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Two University of Rhode Island researchers said today they have developed an inexpensive process that may make milk digestible for millions of persons who can't drink it.

Using an enzyme process, the researchers say they have changed lactose or milk sugar to two simple sugars which can be digested—glucose and galactose. An enzyme is a protein secreted by body cells or made artificially which induces chemical reaction in other substances.

"The milk is four times sweeter than the straight-from-the-cow product, but is otherwise unchanged and can be consumed directly, dried or used to make other milk-based food products," Dr. Arthur G. Rand, a professor of animal science and food and resource chemistry, said. "It's caloric value remains the same.

"People tend to prefer a certain degree of sweetness, and this enhances it," he added.

Rand said all babies are capable of handling lactose, unless they have an unusual congenital defect. But he said an intolerance develops during the preteen years for many persons, particularly those of Asian or African extract. By adulthood, a majority of nonCaucasians are unable to digest lactose easily, he added.

Other attempts have been made to remove the lactose, "but most of them have been expensive and altered the nutritive value of the milk by reducing such things as vitamins and minerals," Rand said. Other processes took too long or produced a taste that did not have wide appeal, he said.

(For a more particular description reference is hereby made to the Plat of said Addition, and restrictive covenants therein contained, recorded in Plat Book "B", pages 10 to 12, Fayette County Recorder's Office), be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.
THIRD PARCEL: Beginning at a point in the lines of Paint and Walnut Streets which is the northwest corner of the intersection of said streets; thence S. 47 deg. 38' W. with the northwesterly line of Paint Street and the southeasterly line of the Eli Bereman tract of land of which this is a part, 41.51 feet more or less to a point in the northwesterly line of Paint Street, 40.99 feet distant northeasterly from the east corner of Lot No. 552 of the Bereman Addition to said city and corner to Herschel Taylor; thence

Trouble in tornado insurance settlements

By DEAN SCHOTT
Associated Press Writer
XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Paul Lower, 54, just barely fought off financial disaster after the April 3 tornado swept through Xenia and nearly demolished his home.

City building inspectors wanted to raze his story-and-a-half house as unsafe. Lower wanted to repair it.

Lower won. He saved the $30,000 difference between rebuilding at $60,000 and repairing at $22,000. He has $30,000 in insurance.

"It was a matter of going bankrupt or not going bankrupt," he said. "My insurance will cover what has to be done in repairs. To tear the house down and start over from scratch I would have been $30,000 in debt. At my age that's too much."

Lower is just one of thousands trying to pick up the pieces in 11 states hit by tornadoes that Wednesday afternoon. The twisters killed 317 persons and wreaked property damage estimated at upwards of $1 billion.

Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana were among the hardest hit states. Xenia was the focus of the worst, most concentrated devastation. Thirty-two persons died and about 1,300 homes were destroyed in this southwestern Ohio city of about 25,000. The Xenia storm damaged another 2,200 houses, apartments and business buildings, half the city.

The Ohio Insurance Institute in Columbus set the insured damage at $88 million.

In the disaster, home owners looked to their insurance companies and found generally good response. "Generally we really haven't had too many complaints," said Dave Sheppard, Indiana deputy insurance commissioner. "We've had a few stagger in from time to time."

"The companies have been pretty good about prompt contact and trying to settle as soon as possible."

In Kentucky, Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said there hadn't been 10 serious complaints. He estimated 80 per cent of the claims already have been settled.

But, things haven't been that placid in Xenia, where city pride and the desire to rebuild the city collided with dollars and cents.

First controversies arose over living costs in the first few days after the tornado hit Xenia. "The adjusters ran over there hat in hand, not really prepared for what they ran into, and were giving living expenses on final settlement vouchers with disclaimers on the back."

"The Legal Aid Society got all excited and scared people to death. It got so people were afraid to cash the checks they got from the insurance companies," said a spokesman in the state Department of Insurance.

After that came the arguments over the buildings themselves. Should they be torn down as the city ordered or repaired as many of the insured, like Paul Lower, wanted?

"The city wanted to rebuild Xenia better than ever, to seize the opportunity for urban renewal, to solve old traffic problems, to give the city a new look," said the insurance department spokesman.

"It was perfectly natural, but a lot of homes were under-insured and you got situations like the Lower case."

It began a couple of days after the twister when a score of city building inspectors toured the city, judging if structures should be razed or repaired. Many residents complained the inspectors made their decisions from passing cars and not from on-the-site inspections.

A spokesman for one large insurance company, which has a $22 million stake in Xenia tornado claims, said, "The city went off base early in the game and home owners began complaining. The city has backed down, that's what it amounted to."

The spokesman said he understood the city would lift condemnation if the home owner asked that it be lifted.

But, E. A. Davis, a Dayton structural engineer working for the city of Xenia, said chances of getting condemnation lifted were one in 20.

Lower became that one in 20. Bill Roden, another owner of a damaged home, wants to be but still awaits a decision.

Resting on his wheelbarrow after some cleanup work, Roden looked at the damage to his one-story frame house—a hole in his roof which had been covered with clear plastic.

"I think the city is all wet," he said.

"They're all wrong. It's not that I want to cause trouble, but they've made a mistake on this."

For Roden and his claims adjuster from the Grange Mutual Casualty Co., the problem also is money.

"I have $23,100 of insurance coverage to be exact," said Roden. "The contractor said it would cost about $30,000 to rebuild the same home."

Roden said the claims adjuster estimated repairs at about $10,000.

"They can't condemn this house," the adjuster said. Roden nodded in agreement.

"The individuals are being harmed by this and the city is slowly realizing it," said the adjuster, who didn't want to be identified. "Everybody was in a state of shock and the city fathers thought it would be the best time to redo the town."

"That would be nice for the city fathers, but the people would be harmed."

City Manager Robert Stewart

reacted sharply to the adjuster's suggestion of razing homes in order to redo the town. "I categorically deny any interest like that," he said.

"There have been some honest differences of opinion between the city and home owners, but they have been resolved. We've taken all possible steps not to make any errors, but there are a few cases."

Stewart said city building inspectors have looked at dwellings as many as three times when there were differences of opinion. "We're willing to go back 10 times if it's necessary."

Not all the controversy has been between the city and home owners. The First Church of the Nazarene and its dispute with its insurance company is a major case in point.

"It's not coming along well at all," said the Rev. Harold Horton, an associate pastor of the Nazarene church.

The Rev. Mr. Horton said the chairman of the church's board of trustees had signed a demolition order for the city because the church and insurance company could not agree.

"They had a man from Midwest Contractors of Mansfield come down and he figured he could repair the church for $209,000. Our architect figured $330,000."

Jerry Reynolds, representing Midwestern Indemnity, said he stood by his engineer's report that the church was repairable and that the Mansfield firm was ready to do the job for $209,000. The church has $400,000 insurance.

He said Xenia's building inspector, Tom Fister, was studying the report. "I'm certain he will not begin demolition until he has studied the report. If the city doesn't lift the condemnation then I have no recourse other than begin injunctive action in Greene County Common Pleas Court," Reynolds said.

Reynolds said similar disputes would spring up about downtown business buildings.

'Brinkmanship' by Fed under fire

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — With the business community seemingly determined to continue borrowing money no matter what the cost, the Federal Reserve Board is being forced into an almost unprecedented situation.

In theory, rising interest rates and a relatively smaller than usual growth in the money supply are supposed to discourage borrowing. But recent surveys show that business plans to spend much more than it did in 1973.

One corporate treasurer explained: "We don't like to pay high interest rates but it has been our experience over the past five years that if we don't borrow now we'll pay more tomorrow."

The Fed, therefore, is faced with a situation that grows more critical each day: Should it continue monetary restraint and risk economic chaos? Or should it relent?

After stating he will continue restraint, Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is being accused by some investment brokers and businessmen of financial brinkmanship.

Manown Kiser Jr., senior vice president of Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis, a large securities house, commented in the firm's newsletter: "Surely Dr. Burns does not want to cast the economy into the abyss of a liquidity crisis and an ensuing depression. It might cure inflation, but politically and socially, the system would not survive the fall."

The alleged brinkmanship, he said, involves the basic underpinnings of the American financial structure of equity, bond and money markets, and the various financial institutions and commercial banks.

"All are inter — and intra — related, entwined and inseparable," he commented. "If one were to crack, there would be reverberations throughout."

While feeling that the Federal Reserve will ease monetary policy and that interest rates will fall sharply, Chase Econometric Associates late in April felt it was important to consider the alternative.

If the Fed decides to continue to tighten monetary policy in an abortive attempt to reduce the rate of inflation too quickly, chaos would result, said the firm, which is part of Chase Manhattan Corp. It added:

"Under our credit crunch scenario, we would expect the failure of at least one large corporation issuing commercial paper and a resulting lack of liquidity in the entire nonbank commercial paper market."

Commercial paper, a negotiable promise to pay, is an important source of short-term capital for many corporations, as well as a source of income for companies with excess funds to lend.

Business loans outstanding at the big New York banks fell slightly in the week ended last Wednesday, but the amount, about $37 million, wasn't enough to convince observers that a trend to less demand was setting in.

If the decline continues for several weeks, however, economists believe it would indicate that Fed policy finally is forcing business to reconsider its spending plans.

Court News

JUVENILE TRAFFIC HEARINGS
Roy Allen Litteral, 17, son of Mrs. Margaret Litteral, 2011 Heritage Court, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender following a hearing before Judge Rollo M. Marchant in Juvenile Court. The judge suspended the youth's operator's license for an indefinite period, ordered him to attend the next defensive Driving Course and placed him on probation with Marshall Boggs, an officer of the Court. The youth was charged with reckless operation April 27 by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department after he struck a parked vehicle at a Bloomingburg intersection.

James Beingar, son of James E. Binegar, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., and Mrs. Jennie Lee, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender in a hearing before Judge Marchant and was ordered to attend the next Defensive Driving Course. The youth was arrested March 29 by the Ohio Highway Patrol for failure to maintain an assured clear distance following an accident at the W. Court Street-Circle Avenue intersection. However, the youth proved to the court that the brakes on his car had failed.

James A. Tagg, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tagg, of Sabina, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender by Judge Marchant and the court approved discipline imposed by the youth's parents. He was arrested April 21 by the Ohio Highway Patrol for speeding on U.S. 35.

Richard Rundblad, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rundblad, 628 Belle Aire Place, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender and Judge Marchant suspended the youth's driver's license for a 30-day period. He was arrested April 22 by the Ohio Highway Patrol on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal on Palmer Road.

DIVORCE SUITS FILED
Two new divorce suits have been filed in Common Pleas Court.

Phyllis Jean Gault, Rt. 4, Washington C.H., has filed suit against Ronald G. Gault on grounds of neglect of duty. The parties were married Aug. 12, 1965, in Maysville, Ky., and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks to be restored to her former name, Phyllis Whiteside, asks to be awarded a 1964 model car owned by the parties and requests that a property settlement be determined by the court.

Margaret June Perrill, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, has filed suit against James T. Perrill III on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married Feb. 7, 1954, in Washington C.H. and have two children. The plaintiff asks custody of the two minor children and reasonable alimony and child support.

CORRECTION
Danny R. Aills, 618 W. Market St., has been granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court from Barbara J. Aills on grounds of neglect of duty. The plaintiff was awarded the residence and a property settlement entered into by the parties was approved by the court. The defendant was awarded child custody. The Record-Herald incorrectly said in an earlier court column that Barbara J. Aills had been granted a divorce from Danny R. Aills.

Phone frauds bring terms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio men were convicted in U.S. District Court Monday for using electronic "blue boxes" to make long distance calls without being billed.

Marvin W. Levy, 22, of Columbus, and William J. Waters, 26, of Chillicothe, will serve six months in jail and two and a half years probation, a spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's office said.

The sentences are the most severe ever handed down in the state for violation of the "fraud by wire" statute, the spokesman said.

Maximum sentence for the crime is five years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

The two were indicted in February following separate investigations by the FBI with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Chillicothe Telephone Co. Both entered pleas of guilty April 19.

The bidding:
1♥ Pass 1♠ Pass
2♥ Pass 4♥

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

A conscientious declarer starts the play of each hand with the feeling that if anything can go wrong it will go wrong — and attempts from the outset to protect himself against every type of misfortune he can think of.

Accordingly, when West leads a diamond, South takes the somber view that he may lose a spade, a heart and two clubs — and go down one. He realizes he may not have a trump loser and that he will lose only one club trick if West has the ace, but he starts out by assuming he will be unlucky on both counts.

His next step is to seek a way to overcome the imagined bad luck. He notes that if the spades are favorably divided he can establish a spade winner to take care of one of his losing clubs, and that this possibility can be pursued without relinquishing his other chances for the contract.

Accordingly, he wins the diamond with the king and leads a spade. West follows low and East takes the jack with the king. Let's say East returns a diamond to the ace, whereupon South ruffs a low spade.

Declarer then cashes the A-K of trumps, East showing out, and ruffs a diamond with the jack. When he now trumps another low spade, West's ace falls and the contract suddenly becomes secure. South later discards a club on the queen of spades and loses only three tricks — a spade, a heart and a club.

Note that if declarer ignores the spades and relies on a favorable trump split or on finding West with the club ace, he goes down.

This business of planning the play in advance, instead of relying primarily on luck, pays good dividends from time to time. It pays to plan the play.

Youth Activities

JASPER-TOP-NOTCHERS
The meeting of the Jasper-To-Notchers 4-H club started out great. Club members were reminded that market barrows and sheep must be on feed, market barrows and sheep also must be ear tagged by May 24, and also Jr. Leadership May 26. Reports were given. Junior Health boy Johnny Blair gave a report on "There Are Smiles." Senior Health boy David McFadden gave two reports one on "Solid Waste Disposal," and a safety report, and Senior Health girl Anita McFadden gave a report on "Colds." Treasures report was that the club had $16.00. Johnny Blair and Tim Anders served refreshments. The next meeting is planned for May 16.

ALL AMERICAN CLUB

The meeting of the 11 American 4-H Club was held in Chaffin School, when Steve Wilson opened the meeting. Gary Cruea led the pledges. Roll call and minutes were read by John Heironimus. He also made a motion for adjournment and Jay Baughn seconded.

Don Heironimus served refreshments. The next meeting will be May 20.

Randy Keiser, reporter

FULL STRINGER ANGLERS 4-H

The Full Stringer Anglers 4-H Club met and the meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge led by Randy Boyer. Six boys answered roll call.

Officers elected were Gary Cruea, president; Randy Boyer, vice president; Dean Faris, secretary; Steve Wieland, treasurer; Timmy Orihood, news reporter; Geoff Bowers, health chairman; Kenny Wisecup, safety chairman; and Dean Faris, recreation.

The meetings were set up for the first and third Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Dues were set at 10 cents per meeting or $1.00 for the year.

Refreshments were served by Robert Hyer, adviser.

In Focus

Charlie Pensyl

A few days ago, a friend and I were discussing over a soft drink (Doctor Pepper, if you must know) the latest meeting of the Bilderbergers in the luxurious Hotel Mon d'Arbois, owned by Baron Edmond de Rothschild. My friend, who was with the State Department for some time, is quite aware of H.R.H. Prince Bernhard's Bilderberger group and their close association with the Round Table Groups and the C.F.R. This latest meeting, April 19, 20, and 21, was attended by the usual group of Rothschilds, Rockefellers (both Nelson and David), Senators Mondale (D-Minn) and Mathias (R-Md.), and other representatives of money and political power from around the world.

Our talk got around to how few of the people who speak so glibly of political, economic, and world affairs over the coffee tables are even aware of the true power source in our government. Many of these people have no more than heard of the C.F.R. My friend commented on the column of a couple of weeks ago, and suggested that I should go a bit more into detail on the C.F.R.

The Council on Foreign Relations is an elite group of about fifteen hundred of the nations top men in positions of power in finance, news media, tax-free foundations and government. These guys are carefully selected for their usefulness. This group has virtually taken over, first the State Department, and more and more into the entire Washington scene. That's why Dan Smoot's book on the C.F.R. is titled "THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT"; that's what the C.F.R. is. So you see, unless you have an understanding of the workings of this group and its counterpart in other nations, how can you expect to understand what's happening on the national scene, or internationally. If you don't know what game they're playing, how can you tell who's scoring points. And these boys are scoring points. I would guess that the Baron Edmond de Rothschild and his cousin, Guy Rothschild hosted the most powerful figures partly to tally their points. If you want more dope on these people, read Skousen's "THE NAKED CAPITALIST," $2 in paperback. Until you read Skousen's book you just can't get the whole scene in focus.

Remarkable Body Factory

My cousin had a serious accident when she was thrown from a horse. To save her life, her spleen was removed.

What replaces the function of such an important organ?

Miss G.A. Iowa

Dear Miss A.:

The spleen is truly one of the most remarkable chemical factories in the body.

Every year scientific research yields more and more information about this amazing organ.

It plays an important role in the formation of red blood cells. Paradoxically, it is involved in the destruction of red blood cells that are old and have ceased to be useful.

Newer knowledge indicates the spleen is involved in building up body defenses against infection and in other factors of immunity.

When the spleen is removed, the bone marrow of the long bones of the body takes on the added burden of producing millions of red blood cells, white blood cells, platelets and other important substances in the blood.

The body has many such compensating devices.

Are breath-testing methods reliable for measuring the amount of alcohol in the body?

Mr. H.H. Vt.

Dear Mr. H.:

"Bag-breathing" and blood studies are very reliable in determining the alcoholic content of the blood.

Many states recognize this data as an indication of intoxication. It must be remembered that the tolerance for alcohol varies in people. Yet it is accepted that everyone with high or low tolerance has some loss of reflexes after drinking alcohol.

Undoubtedly, decreased reflexes, lack of concentration, and lessened judgment resulting from alcohol are responsible for the mass destruction of human lives on the roads.

In the air, too, it is known that alcohol can be responsible for major accidents. It is for this reason that commercial pilots never drink prior to a flight.

Committee loser files for recount

An unsuccessful candidate in the May primary election has filed petitions with the Fayette County Board of Elections requesting a vote recount in four precincts.

John L. Rhoad, U.S. 62-S, who was defeated by a slender 112-110 margin by Richard W. Keiser in the race to represent Union Township on the Fayette County Republican Central Committee, filed the request Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, elections director, said the board will meet at 8 p.m. Monday, May 20 in the Courthouse for the recount of votes.

Tabulations from all four voting precincts in the Union Township will be recounted. Both Rhoad and Keiser captured two of the four voting districts.

Keiser was victorious in the North (39-26) and in the West (32-24), while Rhoad won in the South (26-17) and in the East (39-26).

THE BOARD certified results from last Tuesday's primary election at a meeting Monday. The board had met Friday for the official canvass.

Vote totals of only two candidates — both Democrats — were changed during the certification, but the total vote count was altered slightly.

Board members discovered an additional Democratic voter in the city's 1-E precinct and lost two Republican voters in the Union North precinct.

The total vote count for Fayette County was 3,272. The total included, 1969 Republican voters, 1,297 Democrats and six non-partisan voters.

The only vote totals changing were those of Lloyd Alan Wood, Democratic candidate for representative to U.S. Congress from the 6th District, and Ralph W. Phillips, of Greenfield, Democratic candidate for 6th District state committeeman.

Board members said Wood received

Vandals break windows from building again

Windows were broken on the west side of the Washington Electric Co. building, the Washington C.H. Police Department reported. Police are also investigating an attempted gas larceny, an incident of malicious destruction to a church and a bad check. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported a gas larceny at a Fayette County farm.

The same windows which were broken over the weekend on the west side of the Washington Electric Co. building, 431 Sycamore St., were broken again between 6 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. Monday.

Police explained a piece of aluminum siding had been used in the destruction as before and a screen was also torn. Police are investigating the incident which amounted to $21.50 worth of damage both times.

An attempted gasoline larceny was discovered by Police Specialist Dennis Brown at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday, while on routine patrol.

Spec. Brown noted a full can of gasoline and a hose near the rear wheel of a truck owned by Richard Waters, Rt. 5. The truck's gas cap was missing and has not been located. The truck had been parked at Tower Mobile Homes, 678 Robinson Rd.-SE.

Fifteen small stained glass windows were broken on the Paint Street side of Kingdom Hall, 717 E. Paint St., sometime between 7:30 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. Monday. Police estimated the damage at $25.

A bad check for $35 was received by Jennings Photography, 111 S. Main St., on April 15, police reported.

A lock was broken from a gasoline storage tank owned by Kurt Miller, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., sometime between 1:30 p.m. Friday and 8 a.m. Saturday. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported 20 gallons of gas stolen.

Identify girl's body found in trailer

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Police have identified the body of a teenage girl found Monday in an abandoned truck trailer as Julie Egbers, 16, of Cincinnati.

Police said a quantity of pills were found near the body. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Both Ohio party leaders win re-election at meets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio chairmen of both major political parties have been re-elected to two-year terms without dissent.

Democratic Chairman William A. Lavelle was kept in office by acclamation Monday night after a move to oust him fizzled at a meeting of the party's newly elected state central committee.

Kent B. McGough of Lima, the GOP chairman, was retained in similar fashion earlier Monday at the organizational meeting of the new Republican State Central Committee.

Forty-one of the 46 members of the GOP committee were present for its closed meeting in a downtown hotel. Lavelle said 44 of the 46 Democrats attended their session at the party's state headquarters. The Democrats opened their meeting to the news media.

By law, each central committee is comprised of a man and woman from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

Some backers of Democratic U.S. Senate nominee John Glenn considered a move to oust Lavelle after he was ina total of 783 votes, 13 more than earlier reported, while Phillips garnered a total of 576, 10 fewer than reported earlier.

Members of the board of elections are Milbourne Barney, chairman, Richard Kimmet, Mrs. Charline T. Cunningham and Elmer Reed.

Past teachers, new officers feted by CTA

The City Teachers Association held its annual banquet Monday night to honor distinguished service by members and to install new officers for the 1974-75 school year. The banquet was held in Mahan Building on the Fairground.

Some 125 persons attended the buffet dinner and ceremonies which included recognition of retiring and retired teachers, distinguished services awards for past members of the Washington C.H. Board of Education, and an entertaining talk by Emerson Marting, the guest speaker. Musical entertainment was provided by Latonda Bailey, a student at Belle Aire Elementary School, and Mrs. Ralph Yerian, who accompanied her.

Teachers who had retired from positions in the city school district prior to this school year and were recognized by the CTA for their service were Dorothy Everhart, Purl C. Hays, Grace Iden, Helen Reed, Kathleen Vollette, and Lenore Young.

Four faculty members who will be leaving after this year were honored. They were Nellie McClure, Lillian Colley, elementary coordinator Hugh Rea, and Commander Robert Self, Junior Naval ROTC instructor.

Past board of education members Paul Crosby, Dr. Byers Shaw and Mark Schaeper were recognized for their distinguished service.

In one of his final duties as CTA president, Carmen Frogale installed the new officers. They will be David Stone, president; Tom Gaudin, vice president; Mary Cain, secretary; Emma J. King, treasurer; Don Moore, parliamentarian; and Denzil Leggett and Dale Lynch, members at large to the executive committee.

Building representatives for the 1974-75 term will be Gene Hughes, Helen Hutson, and Alan Salvador, Washington Senior High School; Barb Vance and Lynn Shoemaker, Washington C.H. middle school; Mary Crone and Melanie Merriman, East-side; Debbie Dill, Rose Avenue; Shirley Carmichael, Cherry Hill; and Jane Ann Redd, Belle Aire.

County pilots hear aviation news editor

The Fayette County Pilots Association met Monday night at the county airport and heard Don Farnsworth, who presented a film and talk of "Some Places to Fly" in Ohio.

Editor of the Ohio Aviation News, Farnsworth is employed by the Ohio Division of Aviation at Ohio State University. He made the film himself from a Cessna plane.

The 30-minute color film pointed out many of the camping, fishing, swimming and picnic areas which are adjacent to county airports. He stressed that many additional points of interest are within very close range of small airports. The airplane offers easy access to recreational areas for the pilot and his family, he said.

At the close of the meeting, Jack Sanders, association president, urged those in attendance to plan to attend the annual fly-in June 9.

The public is invited to attend the festivities which will begin at 8 a.m. Pilots from all over Ohio are expected to bring a variety of aircraft to the Fayette County Airport to participate in the day-long air show. Breakfast will be available for the pilots and the public.

Proceeds will be used to improve airport facilities.

Non-whites comprise only nine per cent of the state's population, but represent almost 25 per cent of the total housing need, according to the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

strumental in getting the state party's endorsement in the May 7 primary election for interim Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland, Glenn's opponent.

Robert L. Van Heyde of Columbus, a Glenn supporter, said he had planned to nominate Nelson Lancione of Columbus for the chairmanship but changed his mind "in the interest of party unity." Lancione is Franklin County chairman.

Van Heyde at one point sought to call the central committee into executive session to discuss the situation, but his motion was defeated by a voice vote.

Afterward, he told reporters that "John Glenn made the statement himself, that he was not happy with Lavelle." But he said he saw no reason to pursue it further in light of the "obvious feeling" among committee members that no change was needed.

"I hope that at some time in the future, we can all get together so that our candidates can run as a team," Van Heyde said. Glenn did not attend the Monday night session although Lavelle said he and all the other Democratic candidates were invited by letter.

THANKS AND BON VOYAGE — Roses are presented to Mrs. Patty Cox in appreciation for her services to the Teen Prayer Breakfasts over the past five years. Mrs. Cox has been in charge of the kitchen staff during that time, and she will soon be moving to Columbus. The presentation was made Tuesday morning by Maurice Pfeifer and Miss Joyce Williams. This morning's breakfast was the last of the school year.

Final Prayer Breakfast held

Students began arriving shortly after 6:15 a.m. Tuesday for the final Prayer Breakfast of the season at the South Side Church of Christ. Vic Slutz led the meditation period in the sanctuary for the 155 teens and school teachers.

Following the prayer, the group was dismissed to the Fellowship Hall where Debbie Burns and LuAnn Graham led the group singing.

Charles Starkey, a guest, offered thanks for the food. A breakfast of hot cakes, sausage and milk was served.

Following the announcements by Carmen Frogale, teacher at Washington Junior High School, Coach Maurice Pfeifer brought the devotional on "The Proper Care and Feeding of Parents."

6 variance requests await board action

Six requests for variances will be considered by members of the Washington C.H. Zoning Board of Appeals at the regular meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the City Office Building.

City Manager Dan Wolford said two of the variance requests deal with the construction of apartment buildings in Washington C.H.

Jack F. Brennan, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., has filed an application for a variance for the purpose of establishing a three-apartment dwelling at 733 S. Main Street. The proposed site is located in an area which is presently zoned R-2.

An application for a variance for the erection of a three-family apartment at 1207 Willard Street has been filed by Roy D. Bailey, 1113 Clemson Plaza. Wolford said the proposed site for the apartment construction is presently zoned R-2. The site is located directly across Willard Street from Washington Senior High School and the Washington C.H. Board of Education expressed no objection to the construction at its last regular meeting.

TWO of the variance requests on the agenda deal with the establishment of upholstery shops in the city, according to Wolford.

John J. Sanderson, 803 Oakland Ave., has filed an application for a variance to establish an upholstery shop in a two-car garage located at 1152 E. Paint Street. Elva M. Schreckengast, 932 E.

Cyclist hurt avoiding boy

A motorcyclist was injured at 5:10 p.m. Monday when he upset his bike to keep from hitting a small boy who had steered his bicycle onto Columbus Avenue, city police reported.

Denver Russell, 19, of 713 John St., suffered abrasions of the left arm and knee and the right elbow, knee and hand. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital, treated and released.

Police described the motorcycle as moderately damaged in the mishap.

A rear-end collision between cars driven by Linda L. Willett, 22, of 317 Florence St., and Connie S. Brown, 25, Greenfield, occurred at 8:05 p.m. Monday. Police said the Willett auto struck the Brown car in the 900 block of Columbus Avenue when the Brown auto slowed suddenly.

No one was cited or injured.

As he began his devotional he expressed thanks to Mrs. Patty Cox for her work in heading up the kitchen committee for the Prayer Breakfasts since the program's inception five years ago. He and Miss Joyce Williams, faculty member at WJHS, presented Mrs. Cox with roses. She will soon be moving to the Columbus area, and this was her final day with the Prayer Breakfast.

Others helping in the kitchen were Mrs. Frances Starkey, Mrs. Bea Helms and Mrs. LaVonne Creamer.

The eighth graders had been invited to attend this, the final Prayer Breakfast of the school year.

Temple St., has filed an application for a variance to establish an upholstery and drapery shop and to sell upholstery and drapery, slipcover fabrics and other related materials and services. Carleton Johnson, of Washington C.H., has filed a variance application for Pennington Bros., Inc., 1100 Clinton Ave., for the use of a building located at 107 Green Street for the purpose of storage.

Betty Frye, 1003 Briar Ave., has filed a request for a variance to erect a sign at 620 N. North Street at an establishment presently operating as Joey's and Gary's Pizza.

Small business, small college vital, WC president declares

WILMINGTON — The president of Wilmington College declares that the health and well-being of American small business, like that of the small college, is vital to the quality of life in the United States.

Robert E. Henshaw said that "for too long, we Americans have equated bigness with goodness."

"There is nothing inherently bad with being big, but it is not bad to be small, either. There must be room in American society for the small, whether it's in business or in education."

Henshaw's comments were made in connection with the observance of National Small Business Week.

The college he heads has a current student enrollment of approximately 600. It was founded by the Society of Friends (Quaker) in 1869.

Henshaw said: "Wilmington College is small, has always been small, and will remain small. We feel there is a need for colleges such as ours. They are like the family-owned, neighborhood grocery stores that still line some of the streets and highways here in southern Ohio."

"For some people, the big supermarket is the place to shop. But for others, the neighborhood store answers a need."

"America has to insure that there will always be a choice between the supermarket and the corner store, between the large university and the small college."

"Diversity has always been our strength in these United States. We can't afford to let that diversity wither away."

Henshaw said that he, like all college presidents, is very grateful for past

Robbery, check cases bound to grand jury

Three young area residents charged with robbery and check-related charges have waived preliminary hearing in Municipal Court and have been bound over to a Fayette County grand jury.

The case against a New Holland man who had been charged with felonious assault in connection with a shooting incident were dismissed.

Conni K. Beane, 23, and Emery M. Tackett, 18, of U.S. 62-S, as well as Vernon N. Gerring, 19, of White Oak Rd., have been bound to the grand jury on charges of robbery.

The three were arrested by city police last week after investigation of a reported mugging May 5. According to the police report, Ms. Beane, had suggested to John C. Sullivan, 58, of 914 E. Market St., that the two of them go to her apartment for coffee after spending some time together at the Emerald Inn, S. Fayette St.

Sullivan told police that shortly after midnight the girl led them through a dimly lit area of the Junior High School grounds where three men assaulted him and stole his wallet. Tackett and Gerring have been charged as two of the accomplices; a third man is still being sought.

Another police investigation led to check-related charges of grand theft against the two men and charges of forgery and receiving stolen goods against Ms. Beane.

According to their report, Ms. Beane allegedly forged a blank check which had been stolen from an automobile. The check, made out in the amount of $103.50, was allegedly cashed by Ms. Beane at the Clark service station, 330 W. Court St.

The role which the men are believed to have played in connection with the check has not been released by Police Department officials.

Assistant County Prosecutor John H. Roszmann prepared the affidavits and authorized the filing of the charges against the trio and will present the evidence against them to the next session of grand jury.

A FELONIOUS ASSAULT charge against Harold O. Pope, 63, of New Holland was dismissed without prejudice when the defendant was unable to appear in court due to illness. He currently is hospitalized, and the county prosecutor's office will consider refileing the charge if and when the defendant's health will allow him to appear in court.

Pope was arrested by Sheriff's deputies May 4 after he allegedly fired a shotgun at a neighbor who had mowed down some strawberry plants while cutting his lawn. The neighbor was treated for buckshot wounds in the hip.

Midwest buffeted by high winds

By The Associated Press
Severe thunderstorms rumbled through the Midwest today in the wake of a widespread outbreak of tornadoes, heavy rain, snow, high winds and hail late Monday.

Several persons were injured at Hutchinson, Kan., when a tornado touched down during the night at a mobile-home park. Three mobile homes were destroyed and two were heavily damaged, authorities said.

The twisters downed trees and power lines at Topeka, Wichita and Haven, Kan., and in southern Buchanan County and an area northwest of Kansas City.

Tornadoes also caused minor damage at Davenport, Iowa.

Hail reportedly the size of softballs smashed automobile windshields and caused extensive roof damage Monday night at Sterling, Kan. Earlier in the day, equally large stones pounded Stafford, Kan. Hail 1 to 2 inches in diameter pounded Wichita and Newton, Kan., and Enid, Okla.

Thunderstorms spread along a line from north-central Oklahoma to northern Illinois, where a tornado set down briefly at Emerson shortly before midnight.

Severe thunderstorm watches remained in effect for portions of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. Scattered storms also were reported over Wisconsin and Lower Michigan.

Strong winds hitting 60 m.p.h. swept through Oquawka, Ill., and Philip, S.D., and gusts of 70 m.p.h. were recorded at Ponca City, Okla. Considerable wind damage also occurred in Hesston, Kan.

Rains of 3 and 4 inches in eastern Kansas prompted flashflood warnings. The complex weather system also brought a late blast of winter to Montana and North Dakota, where snow fell through the night.

Up to four feet of snow was dumped on Montana's Little Belt Mountains through Monday, and 8 inches accumulated at Lewistown. In the hard-hit central portion of the state, roads were closed, power lines were downed and telephone poles were toppled domino style.

Dollar dips in Zurich

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — The dollar and the British pound plunged to new lows on the Zurich foreign exchange market today.

The dollar dropped from 2.8250 Swiss francs Monday to a 10-month low of 2.7775.

The pound made an even more dramatic plunge from 6.9350 francs to 6.6586, a 4 per cent drop and the lowest level to which the pound ever has fallen.

Madam seeks public office; says she 'knows the people'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "I probably know people better than most of the people who are seeking public office," says Beverly Harrell. She claims she's the only active madam ever to seek elective office.

Mrs. Harrell, who owns the Cottontail "ranch," a legal brothel 156 miles north of Las Vegas, announced Monday she would seek the Democratic nomination for State Assembly in a three-county district in west central Nevada.

"I am ready for the legislature. I hope the legislature is ready for me," the petite redhead told a news conference. She said "40 sounds good" for her age.

She said she wanted to make clear her brothel was legal so people would not think she was "a shady character operating at the whim of paid-off public officials" but rather "a businesswoman who has lived and paid taxes in Nevada for seven years."

Mrs. Harrell said she would like to see the question of legalizing

Signed diplomas for vo-ed grads

The nagging question over awarding temporary blank diplomas to graduating seniors from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools attending the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School in Wilmington has been resolved.

Previously, vocational education students were to receive the opportunity to participate in graduation ceremonies at both high schools, but the actual diploma was to be withheld temporarily and issued immediately after officials at the Wilmington vocational school had verified the students' completion of diploma requirements.

However, the puzzle has been solved and it appears that the issue will be avoided for upcoming seniors next year at this time.

GUY M. FOSTER, superintendent of the Miami Trace School District, said that he had been contacted by Exley Wical, principal at the Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School, and vo-ed school officials will be notifying local school districts in writing a week prior to actual graduation rites concerning the eligibility of prospective graduates.

Education bill vote scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today over how to distribute federal education aid to the nation's school districts, one of the most disputed sections of the $23 billion education bill.

At issue is about $1 billion in money distributed annually to school systems under Title I of the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act, money intended to improve educational opportunities for disadvantaged children.

Opposing factions both strongly support this principle. But they disagree over how to define and count poor children.

Until last year the money was allocated on the basis of poverty-level children, as shown by the 1960 census, plus children in welfare families.

But the 1970 census results became available last year and showed a big shift of poverty-level families, chiefly out of Southern and rural states and into large metropolitan areas.

prostitution in Nevada's two largest counties — where Las Vegas and Reno are located — placed on the November ballot. Current state law allows prostitution on a county option basis in all but Clark and Washoe counties.

"I feel that the people of the state of Nevada are very broad-minded people," Mrs. Harrell said. "I think prostitution is on the same par as gambling. I think it should be legal."

She said the main aim of her campaign would be to force the turnover of federal lands in Nevada to the state for dispersal to the public.

"I feel very strongly about this because I have battled with the Bureau of Land Management and I have lost," she said.

Mrs. Harrell lost a year-long battle to operate her brothel on federal land she had been leasing for $100 a year. The ranch — a cluster of trailers on a small piece of land — had been in business some time when a columnist wrote of the operation and the government evicted her.

who are enrolled in vocational education courses.

But, Wical said graduating seniors at Laurel Oaks would not be dismissed early as in the custom in the majority of high schools throughout Ohio.

School districts, including Washington C.H. and Miami Trace, have dismissed graduating seniors early to collect college data and complete record-keeping tasks in addition to providing an opportunity for students to enter the job market earlier.

GRADUATING seniors at Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools will be dismissed a week before graduation ceremonies this year.

Commencement rites will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 29 for Miami Trace High School seniors and combined commencement and baccalaureate for Washington Senior High School's graduating seniors will be held Sunday, June 2, and in each case graduating vo-ed students will receive signed diplomas.

Vocational students will be dismissed from classes on May 31.

The question over the proposed blank diplomas caused concern on the part of a number of parents who felt their children were not being treated equally.

"There was a concern on the part of the board of education simply because we felt it was our responsibility to check courses completed and make certain that all requirements were met before the diploma was issued," Foster said.

The blank diploma question actually popped up in early April during a meeting attended by superintendents from Highland, Fayette and Clinton counties with vocational school administrators in Wilmington.

The purpose of the meeting was to coordinate end-of-year activities and the vocational education officials indicated at that time that grades for graduating seniors would not be issued early.

Since graduation ceremonies had already been scheduled by the high schools in the three counties in the vocational district, officials were faced with the unfortunate situation of not issuing signed diplomas until the vo-ed students had completed their requirements.

Board members from both school districts decided to leave graduation ceremonies as scheduled and issue blank diplomas to vo-ed students during commencement exercises, unless the vocational school decided otherwise.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A controversial bill eliminating mayors' courts and creating more than three dozen new judgeships in Ohio faced a major obstacle today in the House Rules Committee.

Leaders called up the omnibus bill for consideration as the lawmakers returned from their primary election recess. Action was on tap on several major measures this week in the hope the Senate and House can quit for the year in about a month.

Gov. John J. Gilligan's new supplemental appropriations bill, allocating $43.5 million from anticipated state lottery revenues, received a top priority among new matters proposed since the legislature recessed April 4. It is among about 80 new bills.

It would earmark $14.9 million for retirement of Vietnam bonus bonds and

United Nations buffer force part of plan

Syria-Israel pact nearer, reports say

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger returned to Damascus today for more talks with President Hafez Assad amid reports that Syria and Israel have moved closer to a disengagement agreement.

The Egyptian chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mohammed Abdel Ghany el-Gamasy, also was in Damascus. Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has been urging Assad to come to terms with Israel, but Syrian government spokesmen denied a report by the Iraqi news agency that Sadat was also in the Syrian capital.

Kissinger was due back in Israel later today with the Syrians' response to the latest Israeli proposals.

United States officials indicated Monday that the two governments are close to agreement on thinning out armor behind the eventual disengagement lines and on what kind of United Nations buffer force will stand between their armies.

One senior American official said Israel and Syria had moved closer to agreement on the location of the front lines their forces would man on the Golan Heights. But he said while the distances still in dispute are relatively small, they are of major concern to both sides.

The source said there still was no guarantee that Kissinger's on-the-spot diplomacy — now in its 17th day — will produce an agreement.

Newsmen were told the secretary should know by Wednesday whether a disengagement is possible. But his aides said he plans to return to Washington no later than Sunday.

Israel has been reported willing to give up, either to Syria or the U.N. force, all of the territory captured in the October war plus part of the abandoned town of Quneitra, half a mile inside the territory captured in 1967.

U.S. officials refused to outline the remaining differences between the Israeli and Syrian territorial positions. But they claimed the sticking point was not three hills around Quneitra which

Chillicothe safety forces win pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chillicothe police and firemen have won salary and hazard duty pay increases under a new contract negotiated by the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association.

The OCSEA said today the two separate contracts covering about 80 employees permit pay increases ranging from 13-to-25 per cent, plus improved fringe benefits.

Wiretap ruling hits major cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some major criminal prosecutions are in danger because former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell failed to follow the law on wiretap authorization. However, the Justice Department says it cannot identify the threatened 626 prosecutions.

The Supreme Court ruled unanimously Monday that evidence obtained by the illegally authorized wiretaps is inadmissible.

The department, in a court filing, gave the figure of 626 prosecutions involving organized crime and narcotics cases.

However, spokesman Bob Stevenson said after the Supreme Court decision that the department only compiled that number and does not know which cases they represent.

"We don't have the cases broken up. We'll have to canvass the U.S. attorneys," Stevenson said.

However, another Justice Department source, when asked whether any major cases would be thrown out as a result of the decision, responded, "Oh, yes. Definitely."

Another spokesman said the decision

Israel is concerned about because they look down on some of the settlements the Israeli government has established on the Golan Heights. The hills probably would be turned over to the U.N. buffer force, the sources said.

Judiciary panel pushes ahead on impeachment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee today began its first full day of reviewing impeachment evidence with most members expected to get their first chance to listen to White House tapes.

Committee members went into the closed session carrying the thick looseleaf index books they received last week from the committee staff.

While the panel moved ahead with its review of the evidence its staff has collected over the past four months, President Nixon continued to put out word that "there isn't any chance" he will leave office voluntarily.

The committee session today was expected to focus on the Watergate cover-up, when the President learned of it and what he did about it.

In addition to the index listing all the materials collected by the staff, committee members receive each day another looseleaf book laying out the specific allegations and the evidence supporting them.

Day-long closed sessions are scheduled for today, Wednesday and Thursday.

Extraordinary security was in force for the committee sessions. The committee hearing room was sealed with no one other than the 38 members of the panel and its staff allowed inside before or after sessions.

For the first time, committee members other than the chairman and ranking Republican were to listen to some White House tapes.

On Wednesday, the committee is scheduled to vote on issuance of a subpoena demanding additional tapes. Notice of the meeting, sent to committee members on Monday, did not specify which tapes would be sought.

However, it was learned late last week that the subpoena would include a meeting on April 4, 1972, involving the President, H. R. Haldeman and John N. Mitchell. Four days before that meeting, according to testimony by Jeb Stuart Magruder, Mitchell approved a political intelligence plan that included bugging Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate office building.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J. has said he hopes to complete the closed portion of the Watergate break-in and cover-up presentation this week.

Judge nixes injunction against WFL

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge David Porter today refused to bar the new World Football League from negotiating with players under contract to the Cincinnati Bengals of established National Football League.

Porter, in denying a preliminary injunction against the WFL and Bengals' linebacker Bill Bergey, wrote that the NFL team failed to prove their team would be undermined by a contract signed by Bergey with the Virginia Ambassadors.

The contract calls for Bergey to begin play for the WFL team in 1976. His NFL contract expires after the 1975 season.

The judge noted "the fact that Bergey is a fine young man, an emotional person with a great competitive spirit. Bergey has no intention of breaching his contract by letting down in the slightest."

Porter also cited testimony showing that the WFL has advised all NFL players it has signed to fulfill all their obligations to the older league.

Porter said the court could not find that Bergey's future WFL contract would impair the morale or performance of the rest of the Bengals team.

He did say, however, that the Bengals might be harmed if several team members were to sign with the WFL at the same time.

"Operation Eagle," a nationwide attack on drug abuse in 1969.

Other wiretaps authorized under the now-banned procedure came in federal gambling, narcotics and bribery cases after months of investigation, according to a lower court ruling.

The attorney general has authorized wiretaps personally since 1971, Webb said.

Justice Byron R. White said for the court that it is apparent "that Congress desired to centralize and limit this authority where it was feasible to do so .... To us, it appears wholly at odds with the scheme and history of the act to construe (its) provisions to permit the attorney general to delegate his authority ...."

The wiretap that prompted the case was on Dominic N. Giordano, convicted of two sales of heroin to federal agents in Baltimore.

Giordano was convicted without use of the wiretap evidence, but prosecutors wanted to use the evidence against his accomplices.

Giordano, sentenced in 1972 to 12 years in prison, was paroled several weeks ago.

Ohio solons set action on major bills

$12.5 million for vocational education construction in the fiscal year starting July 1, among other things.

House Finance Chairman Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, who will sponsor the administration bill, said he wanted to discuss it with members of his committee before introducing it. He indicated he will call a committee meeting today to look at proposed expenditures other than the $27.4 million for vocational education and the bonus.

The remaining $16.1 million would go for various projects enumerated by the governor a week ago. Republicans indicated they will not go along with what they called "Gilligan pork barrel" proposals aimed at getting votes in an election year.

Senate Finance Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, called Gilligan's bill "a list of misplaced priorities" and said Senate

Republicans plan to offer a supplemental appropriations bill of their own. Dennis was especially critical of the Gilligan bill because it ignored the issue of tax relief.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilowski, D-46 Toledo, is sponsor of the omnibus courts bill which he said could come to a floor vote in the House Wednesday. The Rules Committee considered it at a meeting last week, but it fell one vote short of the seven needed to schedule it for a floor vote.

Wilowski said he has the seventh vote in Rep. James P. Celebrezze, D-4 Cleveland, who was absent from last week's Rules Committee session.

The Toledo lawmaker said he intends to remain firm against efforts by some House leaders and others to take out the mayors' courts abolition but retain the new judgeships.

Many of the lawmakers are under local pressures in their home districts to retain mayors' courts which often provide significant municipal revenues. Wilowski and others include traffic "speed traps" among their arguments to get rid of them.

They also contend that since most mayors head up law enforcement efforts in their communities, it is wrong for them to sit as an official in the judicial branch of government.

However, most of Ohio's estimated 500 mayors' courts have survived a 1972 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court that said, among other things, that the courts could receive guilty pleas but not try the case of a defendant who pleads innocent.

General Motors increases prices

DETROIT (AP) — The price of General Motors vehicles is going up another $105, and the auto giant says it expects a substantial price increase for its 1975 models.

GM said the hike brings the total price increase on the firm's average car or truck to $394 since the 1974 model year began last September.

The base price of the Chevrolet Vega, GM's hot-selling subcompact, was $2,237 last fall and $2,380 until this week. Now it will jump to $2,505, up $125 or 5.25 per cent.

The price hike was just over one per cent on all other models, including a $30 hike for the compact Chevy Nova.

2 hospital

escapees caught

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Columbus State Hospital patients were back in custody today—after a freedom that lasted about two hours.

Henry Fannin, 18, of Chillicothe, and Michael Sims, 16, of Steubenville, escaped from the institution Monday by kicking out a door.

Fannin was wrestled out of a tree about two hours later and Sims was apprehended in a farm field.

Columbus police said Fannin had been convicted of murder in Chillicothe and Sims of making menacing threats.

Church of England to get new leader

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II today named Dr. Donald Coggan, the Archbishop of York, to be Archbishop of Canterbury.

Dr. Coggan will succeed Dr. Michael Ramsey as spiritual head of the Anglican Church when Dr. Ramsey retires on Nov. 15.

Divorce law repeal nixed by Italians

ROME (AP) — The overwhelming defeat of the Vatican's campaign for repeal of the Italian divorce law spurred a drive today to end the privileged status of the Roman Catholic Church in Italy.

Despite a vigorous, two-month campaign by Italy's bishops, most of its 190,000 priests and nuns, and the Vatican's political allies in the Christian Democratic party, Italians voted 3 to 2 in a referendum Sunday and Monday to retain the divorce law that has been on the books only since 1970.

As soon as the results were known, anticlerical groups announced a nationwide drive to collect signatures on a petition calling for a referendum on all laws giving the Church a special position.

One such law stipulates that "the Roman, Catholic, Apostolic religion is the only religion of the state." Others give tax exemptions and other privileges to agencies of the Church and Vatican employees.

The outcome of the referendum was also a stinging rebuff to the Christian Democrats, Italy's dominant party ever since World War II, and its secretary-general, former Premier Amintore Fanfani, who led the party fight against the divorce law.

The campaign divided Premier Mariano Rumor's center-left coalition government and promised new stresses and strains for it in the future. The three smaller parties in the coalition — the Socialists, Democratic Socialists and Republicans — were for divorce, along with the Communists; the Christian Democrats and the Vatican were supported only by the neo-Fascists of the Italian Social Movement, whose backing usually is considered an embarrassment.

Thousands celebrated Monday night in Rome and a dozen other cities, singing, honking horns and cheering. There was some violence. Leftist and rightist youths battled with iron bars and sticks in Naples and nearby Salerno, and six persons were injured. Leftists in Milan set fire to the office of a rightwing labor union. In Bergamo, which voted for repeal of divorce, leftists stoned the building of a Catholic newspaper.

Interior Minister Paolo Emilio Taviani announced that 88.1 per cent of the electorate voted. The final count was 19,093,929, or 59.1 per cent, in favor of allowing divorce and 13,188,184, or 40.9 per cent against its legal retention.

against all the amendments and argue the bill on its merits. If they (the opponents) want to place politics above good government, that's their business," the judiciary chairman said.

The bill needs a two-thirds majority, or 66 votes, in the House — a constitutional requirement for legislation that creates new courts. The bill proposes to create municipal courts in Wadsworth and New Philadelphia, where none now exist. It otherwise adds new judges to existing courts.

Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, said Monday he will offer an amendment — if the bill comes to the floor — which he hopes will let the House reach a compromise.

He will propose, he said, that mayors courts be retained in the statutes, but that the mayors on their own could request a county judge or municipal judge to come in as so-called "circuit riders" to hear mayors' court cases.

Finan predicted his amendment would have the effect of putting mayors' courts out of business anyway "in about five years." He said most mayors he has talked to have stated they do not like to hold court. "They regard it as just another responsibility, another night out," he said.

The Cincinnati Republican conceded his amendment would add a heavy burden to county and municipal judges, but pointed out that they would be able to assign referees to hear cases in their place. Referees, under existing law, must be attorneys.

"That at least would overcome some of the objections to mayors hearing cases on grounds they are not attorneys," Finan said.

Cemetery board explains stand on bikes, dogs, cars

The Washington Cemetery Board resolved Tuesday to retain the prohibitive signs which were recently erected.

The board consensus was that the signs which prohibit bicycles, motorcycles, dogs and prolonged parking are in the best interests of the community.

Although there have been some complaints about the signs, board members feel that the vast majority were not from persons who wished to visit graves on the grounds. Rather they were from persons who desire to use the grounds for other purposes, according to Joseph O'Brien, city councilman and member of the cemetery board.

O'Brien said the restrictions are to prohibit groups of children from using drivers said they would wait to see how the strike progressed before deciding whether to join it.

Scattered rock-throwing was reported along the Pennsylvania Turnpike in western Pennsylvania, site of considerable violence in February. Several truck windshields were shattered, but there were no injuries.

Meanwhile, the Senate rejected by a vote of 51 to 29 a proposal by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., that would have increased the speed limit to 60 m.p.h. Dole contended the present limit imposes a hardship on truckers and residents of rural areas.

Nixon houses too costly, solons agree

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House report concluding $17 million in federal funds has been spent in connection with President Nixon's homes has broad support of Republicans who say security spending has gotten out of hand.

Several Republicans said they expected the report to get overwhelming approval of the House Government Operations Committee today, not as criticism of Nixon but of wasteful security spending.

The report proposed to the committee recommended the government take action to recover "any improper expenditures."

It also recommended security spending in the future be strictly limited to only one of a president's private homes.

The report said the $17 million—$9 million for San Clemente and $8 million for Key Biscayne plus $176,000 for Grand Cay in the Bahamas, where Nixon is a frequent guest of his friend Robert H. Abplanalp—covers all costs including personnel in connection with the homes.

It said some of the spending was "far in excess" of security requests and that some of it was for items contracted by Nixon's aides rather than regular federal agencies.

The report accused the Secret Service and other agencies of having "abused the discretion given them" by Congress' lack of restraints on security spending.

"As a result, government expenditures for all purposes at privately owned property have risen from practically nothing during the Roosevelt-Truman era to over $5 million in the Johnson administration and over $17 million during the first five years of the Nixon administration," the report said.

Personal income rises in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Personal income in Ohio in March totaled $56.5 billion, after seasonal adjustment, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reported today.

The center said that was an 8 per cent increase over income for the same month a year ago.

The personal income rate also was up by 8 per cent for the first quarter of 1974 over the same three-month period a year ago, the center said.

Daley faces operation

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley will have to undergo surgery to prevent complications from what has been diagnosed as a stroke suffered last week.

Frank Sullivan, the mayor's press secretary, said Monday the surgery will be performed in three or four weeks.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Highpriced issues led a weak technical rally in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.41 at 852.00. Advances held a narrow 6 to 5 lead over declines in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said many investors remained preoccupied by lofty interest rates, inflation, and the political uncertainties surrounding the House inquiry into possible impeachment proceedings against President Nixon.

International Telephone & Telegraph was the NYSE's most-active stock, down 1/4 at 20 in trading that included a 48,000-share block at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was down .17 to 86.13.

Blue-chip issues showing strength included Eastman Kodak, up 2 at 106; Du Pont, ahead 2 1/4 at 176 1/2; and General Electric, up 1 1/4 at 49 1/2. Those three issues by themselves accounted for more than half the Dow's rise.

Prison OKs death wish

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Soledad Prison administration relented early today and permitted a convict serving heavy sentences on drug charges to leave prison to visit his dying son in a hospital.

Leonard Macchiarella's last wish before he lapsed into a coma was to see his father.

"Where's my Dad? Where's my Dad? I want to see my Dad," the 16-year-old youth pleaded.

Flanked by two guards, Phillip Macchiarella, 35, was taken to University of California Medical Center to see his son, in the last stages of a fatal kidney disease.

Earlier, the California Department of Corrections had said it was impossible to allow Macchiarella to leave prison because of his serious criminal record, but Soledad Superintendent W.T. Stone relented.

"He heard from the boy's doctor Monday," said Associate Warden E.A. Peterson. "The prognosis was that he couldn't live more than 36 hours."

Peterson said Macchiarella would be allowed out "just long enough to see his son, and perhaps his family," then he would be returned behind bars.

The elder Macchiarella is serving five years to life for possession of hard drugs, and a six-month to 10-year term for possession of marijuana.

Women also Watergate losers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House program to promote women has virtually been wiped out by Watergate.

The staff of the Office of Women's Programs has been whittled down to one secretary. "Things are not moving around here," one insider said Monday of the administration efforts on behalf of women.

Another source said the women's office "as an advocate is temporarily abrogated."

All the key women recruited in the White House by presidential counselor Anne Armstrong have left or given notice of their departure, and no successors have been indicated.

With them have gone hopes for holding the nation's first White House conference on women and a lot of plans for recruiting women in high government policy-making posts.

"There's not a woman appointee in the pipeline now," a source said, adding it may take months to regroup a new staff.

One source said "special interest advocates" for women and blacks "are really so far out of everybody's mind there" (in the White House) these days.

And it was reported that there is a reluctance to bring up such matters when the President and his key advisers are engaged in the Watergate battles.

Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. has the final say on such matters as the appointment of top women in the administration but was said to be "totally preoccupied" with other matters.

Mrs. Armstrong, with an arm-long list of White House project responsibilities from the Cost of Living Council to the bicentennial, has become increasingly involved with speech-making in defense of the President in the Watergate affair.

One source who knows Mrs. Armstrong well said she "cares a lot about the women's issue" but is spread too thin with added public relations assignments in the Watergate defense.

Mrs. Armstrong said, however, that her efforts are not stymied and she will be "going ahead as strong as ever" on behalf of women. "We'll make do—it won't fall through the crack," she said about the staff departures.

In the past six months there have been only two new highlevel women appointees—Assistant Secretary for Education Virginia Y. Totter of Lincoln, Neb., and Asst. Atty. Gen. Carla Anderson Hills of Los Angeles. There does not seem to be a similar appointment in sight now and "a dead period is predictable," a source said.

Companies blast taconite order

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Reserve Mining Co. and its two parent firms have filed a brief strongly criticizing U.S. District Judge Miles Lord's order that Reserve stop discharging asbestos-type fibers into Lake Superior and the air from its taconite processing plant at Silver Bay, Minn.

The government last August took Reserve to court in an attempt to stop the firm's daily discharge of some 67,000 tons of waste taconite rock into Lake Superior.

Several witnesses testified that tiny asbestos-type fibers found in the drinking water of several North Shore communities had entered the lake as part of the taconite wastes.

Judge Lord issued the order April 20 halting the discharge, and Reserve shut down its Minnesota operations for two days. However, the order was lifted by a three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis until 2 p.m. Wednesday, when the panel will meet to hear a request for a permanent stay.

Reserve and its parent companies, the Armco and Republic Steel corporations, have filed a brief with the appeals court contending that "never before" has such a far-reaching action been based on "such tenuous, insubstantial, insufficient and speculative" evidence.

The brief was filed in support of a motion by the defendants for a permanent stay of Judge Lord's order pending their appeal of that decision.

Reserve and its parent companies contended the judge's action was unnecessary "in view of the fact that no emergency situation exists because of the presence of asbestos-type fibers in the drinking water taken from Lake Superior."

The 47-page brief submitted by the defendants summarizes evidence produced in the trial and deals most specifically with public-health testimony and the potential economic and social impacts of a Reserve shutdown.

The defendants contend in their brief that the asbestos-type fibers enter Lake Superior naturally from a variety of sources, including tributary streams, and will remain in significant quantities even after Reserve stops discharging taconite wastes into the lake.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Dissident county and township officials will attempt to oust Hamilton County Republican Chairman Earl Barnes at a GOP Central Committee meeting tonight.

The dissidents are reported unhappy with Barnes' alliance with former Gov. James A. Rhodes and for losing control of Cincinnati City Council for two straight terms.

Hamilton County, one of Ohio's strongest GOP areas, also elected Democrat Thomas Luken this year in the 1st Congressional District. Luken is only the third Democrat to win that seat this century.

"I am a candidate and if they want to come after me, okay," said Barnes. "They got my dander up. I absolutely will not resign. I guess you could say I'm stubborn."

Ohio children receive aid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 58,000 Ohio children received aid from public or private children services agencies during the first quarter of fiscal 1974, Public Welfare Director Charles Bates reported Monday.

Bates said the majority, about 48,000, received services from county welfare departments or children's services boards.

Others received care through private agencies or institutions licensed by the welfare department's Division of Social Services.

Bates said services offered ranged from day care programs to payment for psychological and psychiatric evaluations for emotionally troubled youngsters in residential treatment centers. He said medical care, counseling, family planning services for unwed mothers and group home living arrangements for older children were also provided.

The longest measure of time is the kalpa in Hindu chronology. It is equivalent to 4,320 million years.

Hearing tonight on subdivision ruling changes

A public hearing regarding proposed new subdivision regulations for Fayette County will be held by members of the Fayette County Planning Commission at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Apparently some changes in the proposed regulations have been incorporated since the last public hearing held by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

The meeting tonight will be held in the Commissioners' office.

Developers and other interested persons have voiced opposition to the proposed new standards since they feel the regulations are much too stringent.

Providing no more changes are made in the present set of standards, the Board of Commissioners will hold its public hearing on the regulations at 3 p.m. May 20 for final adoption.

COMMISSIONERS Monday afternoon agreed to start accepting bids for the rebinding, repair and refurbishing of record books in the Fayette County recorder's office. The bids will be opened at 10 a.m. May 28.

Copies of the proposed work schedule are on file in the commissioners' office. In other matters, the board authorized county officials to attend professional meetings.

O.M. Riegel, county welfare director, and nine staff members will attend the Ohio Welfare Directors workshop meeting today and Wednesday in Columbus, and Mrs. Lorie M. Armbrust, county recorder, will attend the Ohio Recorder's Association executive board meeting Wednesday and Thursday in Columbus.

2 AP newsmen win promotions

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — The Associated Press announced today the promotion of William Morrissey, and the appointment of Dean W. Schott as new correspondent in charge of the Vermont AP bureau.

Morrissey, 37, moves from correspondent at Montpelier to news editor at Nashville, where he will be second in command of the news cooperative's operations in Tennessee.

Schott, 28, has been an AP newsman at Columbus, Ohio, since 1970. He is a native of Canton, Ohio, and worked previously as a reporter for the Canton Repository.

One of man's earliest and most reliable forms of transportation, the ferry boat, still draws eager customers from the coast of Alaska to the Bosphorus.

Gun control plan heads to committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Toledo lawmaker's efforts to place gun control in the hands of a "blue ribbon" committee may be made on the House floor Thursday.

House Judiciary Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, said Monday he has an amendment ready that would revamp an earlier proposal to outlaw cheap handguns known as "Saturday night specials."

The House defeated the Saturday night special bill before the legislature began a five-week recess April 3, but Wilkowski and the main sponsor, Rep. John A. Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, plan to bring it up for reconsideration.

Wilkowski said his amendment would take out the language outlawing Saturday night specials—those weapons that melt at 800 degrees Fahrenheit or less—and instead provide for a committee that would study "the whole problem" of gun control.

Wilkowski said he plans to try to bring the matter up Thursday unless other key bills in which he has an interest, including an abortion control bill due back from the Senate, take precedence with House leaders.

Galbraith indicated he would go along with his fellow Lucas Countian's proposal.

The judiciary chairman will suggest a committee made up of the House speaker, president pro tem of the Senate, chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, the attorney general, the majority and minority leaders of both chambers of the legislature, and 22 others who would include prosecutors and other local law enforcement and court officials.

Wilkowski said the committee "would be directed to report back to us by April of next year. If they had a constitutional amendment in mind, they would be asked to give it to us with the appropriate language."

He said previous legislative attempts to deal with gun control "make it clear that the only way we can get an answer is to go to the people."

Wilkowski contends if the issue is placed before Ohio's voters, they would approve a constitutional change for "reasonable gun controls" by a plurality of 65 per cent."

Ohio soldier's body to be returned home

BISBEE, Ariz. (AP)—The body of Army Pfc. David R. Kyler, who died under mysterious circumstances, has been shipped back to his hometown of Jeromesville, Ohio, Cochise County Atty. Richard Riley said Monday.

The body was found April 10 at the bottom of a dry well near Sierra Vista, where Kyler was last seen Oct. 31. Riley said he was certain of foul play, based on circumstantial evidence, but an autopsy failed to determine a cause of death and there were no visible signs of violence.

The supply of doctors

The American Medical Association reports that as of the end of 1973 there were 366,379 physicians in the United States. This, we are told, represents an increase of 9,845 over the previous year.

In percentage terms, that is a substantial rise; it is more than double the percentage increase in the general population. Thus one might conclude that we are witnessing good progress toward having enough doctors to meet the medical needs of the American people.

Such a conclusion leaves out two important factors. One is the perennial problem of distribution, which arises largely from doctors' general preference for large communities with good hospital facilities. The other factor is the related matter of specialization.

The AMA figures offer some insight into this. They suggest that in at least one respect the situation with regard to optimum provision of medical care may be getting worse.

What we have in mind is that whereas the number of general practitioners declined, more medical specialists showed up in the figures. In 1972 there were 55,348 general practitioners; in 1973 there were 53,986. At the same time, the number of specialists grew from 84,153 to 86,924.

There is heavy demand for specialists as medicine becomes more sophisticated and complex. The generalist simply cannot be expected to keep abreast of new knowledge in the specialties.

Still, it is disheartening to see such a decline in the number of general practitioners at a time when they appear to offer the best hope of making good care available to all Americans.

The power to influence

"The political stand of this country's newspapers may be among the most underestimated forces in campaign politics."

Come, come, may be your reaction. Indeed, you may suspect that this is excerpted from a keynote address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors by a politician engaged in rainmaking. Not so; it is taken from a careful statistical study of the relationship of newspaper opinion and electoral behavior prepared by John Robinson of the widely respected Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan.

Mr. Robinson even goes so far as to suggest that adverse editorials in the nation's papers may have cost Vice President Hubert Humphrey the 1968 Presidential election. Using extraordinarily sophisticated statistical techniques, which exclude other variables such as age, education, race, income and city size, Robinson indicates that newspaper endorsements hardly affected committed Democrats or Republicans, but "the political stance of the newspapers read by Independents was associated with a substantial difference in their Presidential votes. . . The pro-Nixon newspapers seem to have swayed about 3 per cent of the total vote toward Nixon."

IN 1972, even with the Nixon landslide, Robinson had been able to single out meaningful differences. While Republicans were unaffected, Independents exposed to papers endorsing McGovern were 50 per cent more likely to vote for the senator than Independents addicted to pro-Nixon journals. Behavior among Democrats showed a similar divergence between those who read pro-McGovern organs and those who read papers endorsing Nixon.

Seventy-one per cent of the Democrats in the former category voted for the senator; 54 per cent of those in the latter group cast their ballots for the President.

Note that Robinson does not argue that newspaper attitudes determine the election outcome (except in a rare three-way race such as 1968). If they did, we would never have a Democratic President.

Eighty per cent of the nation's papers supported Nixon in 1968, and 90 per cent in 1972. (With this kind of press support, one wonders why the President felt constantly harassed by journalists.) However, one of the most striking long-range developments in American politics is the rise of the Independent voter.

Independents, for instance, constitute 38 per cent of registered voters in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Since Robinson's date shows that Independents are the most susceptible to newspaper opinion, one can anticipate increasing journalistic clout, particularly since he further indicates that it is in close elections that Independents are most influenced.

At this point, somebody is bound to ask: "What about TV?"

Well, here again, Robinson turns up with a distinctive and fascinating hypothesis, namely that "the public ranked television as its most important source of campaign news, but they were more often persuaded by newspapers."

On this score, I have my doubts. The problem with television is that overtly the networks make no endorsements, but the way they handle "news" has a considerable subliminal impact on the viewer.

Here I part company completely with the conservatives who accuse the networks of a "liberal" bias. The handling of the 1968 Chicago convention, the constant and excessive coverage of violence, disruption and the witless antics of the "counter-culture," led a significant number of Americans to vote for Nixon as the man who would end all that noise.

As I contended in "TV Guide" a while ago, although the networks were not in the conservative bag, they were doing for nothing what they should have been paid for.

But this is beside the point. What the Robinson study should do is generate a good deal of thought on some sort of "fairness doctrine" in the press.

Robinson states that "the newspaper endorsement is perceived as a non-partisan message which appears to cut through the confusing arguments of the campaign and reduce them to a single conclusion."

Surely no one will propose that editors become "nonpartisan" — that would be deadly — but perhaps considerable meditation should go into the way endorsements are handled.

Reducing complicated issues "to a single conclusion" should not be a whimsical act.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Some plans may have to be changed whether you like it or not. Be composed, however, for you may well profit by the change. Keep your sense of humor sharp.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Going it alone will not be the answer now. There are definite areas where you will have to associate with, plan with others. Teamwork!

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Direct your innate enthusiasm into progressive channels. You can accomplish more than many others during this period. Especially favored: written matters and travel plans.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

A time for some introspection. Through reflection, you will get a clearer view of the road ahead, to make plans for further accomplishment and satisfaction.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Discretion should be your watchword. Keep disposition even in order to cope with the ruffled ones you meet — and there may be several.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Take care in counselling others, imparting information. Avoid arguments as such but discuss calmly important situations, transactions.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Do not become disillusioned if some disapprove of your ideas and are unwilling to fall in with your plans. If understanding and tolerant, you just COULD bring them around.

SCORPIO

Ohio Perspective

'Name Game' dead in Ohio?

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Observers of Ohio's political scene are optimistic that the so-called name game that let obscure newcomers win important statewide election races finally is ended.

Gov. John J. Gilligan and state Democratic Chairman William A. Lavelle credit their party's new endorsement procedure for the defeat of such politically inexperienced candidates as John F. Kennedy of Cleveland and J. W. Brown of Reynoldsburg.

Kennedy, who won the Democratic nomination for secretary of state in 1970, lost May 7 to state Sen. Tony P. Hall of Dayton, the endorsed Democrat with several years legislative experience behind him.

The same was true in the Democratic race for lieutenant governor, won by state Rep. Richard F. Celeste of Lakewood, the endorsed candidate among a field of nine.

J. W. Brown of Reynoldsburg, an attorney who practices in Columbus, ran against Celeste and had party leaders worried because of his good showing in pre-election polls. At one point Celeste termed him the front-runner.

Lavelle defended the state party's decision to endorse candidates "not as an attempt to defeat anyone" but to see that candidate records and experience got across to the voters.

The organization spent more than $200,000 on its endorsed slate, most of it going to Celeste and Hall.

In addition to J. W. Brown in the lieutenant governor's race, William Brown, a newcomer from Wintersville, Ohio, threw his hat into the ring for secretary of state and finished second behind Hall—232,596 to 215,690—in the final unofficial count.

Kennedy was third with 182,537.

Another familiar name among Republicans—O'Neill—was offered to Democrats in the lieutenant governor's race. William O'Neill, youthful Columbus public relations man in politics for the first time, polled 125,227 votes and finished fourth behind Celeste, Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese of Cleveland and J. W. Brown.

The name game wasn't really tested among Republicans in the primary, old timers such as Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Lt. Gov. John W. Brown will be on the general election ballot again this fall.

Their credentials as vote-getters are well established, however.

Consensus endorsements by a GOP screening committee apparently discouraged some potential candidates early this year and the Republicans wound up with two new faces on their statewide ticket—Cleveland Mayor Ralph Perk for U.S. Senate and Prosecutor George C. Smith of Franklin County for attorney general.

Voters had a choice between two big GOP names in the primary race for state auditor with former Rep. Roger Tracy Jr. of Columbus outdistancing Thomas Cloud of Dayton.

Tracy is the son and grandson of former auditors. Cloud has the name, but is not related to the immediate past auditor, Roger Cloud.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Let Dad have his fun on the dance floor

DEAR ABBY: I have a most unusual father. He's close to 80, but looks 60, and he knows it. He never misses an opportunity to tell his age because everyone raves about how "young" he looks.

Whenever Dad goes to a wedding or a party where there's music he gets carried away and thinks he's Fred Astaire. Everyone assumes he's tipsy, but all he drinks is soda pop.

He's a handsome man and a good dancer, but not good enough to put on a solo performance, which he always does. Mom died five years ago, and Dad remarried and his wife can't control him worth a hoot.

My problem: My son is being married soon. Should I take Dad aside and ask him to refrain from making a donkey of himself at the wedding reception? Or should I let him do his usual act and try to remain calm? All our friends and relatives know what a show-off he is but the bride's family has never seen him in action.

I love my father, but when he's on, I blush like crazy, a smile freezes on my face, and I clench my teeth until my jaws ache. What to do?

HIS DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: An 80 year old man who looks like he's 60 and thinks he's Fred Astaire (and on soda pop yet) is entitled to have a little fun. Let Dad have a good time. And-Thank heavens you're not slipping chicken soup to him in a rest home every day.

DEAR ABBY: I would like a wrestling partner. Someone who would like to wrestle for fun and exercise. I am not looking to be a champion.

I am 66 years old, in good health, and would like to stay that way as long as possible. I've never wrestled but that type of exercise appeals to me. Where should I look?

WANTS TO WRESTLE

DEAR WANTS: Go to the YMCA (if you're looking for a male partner, otherwise, go to the YWCA) and ask if there is a wrestler who would like to work out with you. If there is, you won't have to twist his arm.

DEAR ABBY: Here is the problem that has our whole family divided: Shirley is married to Robert, Shirley's sister is married to Charles. What are Robert and Charles to each other? I say they are brothers-in-law. Someone in the family says Charles and Robert are not related at all.

If that is true, I cannot understand why Robert's children call Charles "Uncle," and Charles' children call Robert "Uncle."

Please rush your answer as this problem has thrown a wet blanket over our family reunions for years.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

DEAR ALL: Technically, a brother-in-law is either the brother of one's wife or the husband of one's sister. However, it's customary for husbands and wives to accept their spouses' relatives by marriage as their own.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "K" WHOSE CONSCIENCE BOTHERED HER FOR SO MANY YEARS: I took care of that little matter for you and now you are square. Pleasant dreams.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, May 14th, the 134th day of 1974. There are 231 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1787, a convention met in Philadelphia to draw up the U.S. constitution.

On this date: In 1643, Louis the XIV became King of France.

In 1804, Captain Meriwether Lewis and William Clark set out from St. Louis on their expedition to the Pacific coast.

In 1904, the first Olympic games to be held in the United States opened at St. Louis.

In 1942, Congress established the WAACS — The Women's Auxiliary Army Corps.

In 1948, Britain ended its rule in Palestine, and the independent state of Israel was proclaimed.

In 1965, Britain's Queen Elizabeth dedicated a shrine in memory of the late President John Kennedy at Runnymede, England.

Ten years ago ... the United States tightened controls on trade with Cuba by ordering American exporters to obtain licenses for the sale of food and rugs.

Five years ago ... in Malaysia, Prime Minister Abdul Rahman suspended the constitution during racial strife.

One year ago ... the first big American Skylab space station was launched.

Today's birthdays: orchestra conductor Otto Klemperer is 89 years old. Opera singer Patrice Munsel is 49. Singer Eddy Arnold is 56.

Thought for today: There is no education like adversity — Disraeli, British Prime Minister, 1804-1881.

Man pleads guilty in extortion attempt

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Cincinnati man, surprised March 21, when a bank teller delivering extortion money turned out to be a lady FBI agent, pleaded guilty Monday in U.S. District Court to attempted extortion.
James Lee Campbell, 39, was sentenced to five years in a federal penitentiary.
The FBI said Campbell telephoned the Central Trust bank downtown and told officials to deliver $10,000 to a street corner because the family of a bank official was being held by cohorts.

Asthma treatment breakthrough seen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A New York physician says he has made breakthrough in the treatment of asthma patients with an aerosol which does not have the side affects of normal medication with steroids.

Dr. M. Henry Williams, Jr., of the Albert Einstein Medical School, presented his paper on the use of corticosteroid Monday before 2,000 delegates to the American Lung Association convention.

Williams said inhaling a tiny amount of a corticosteroid designed for use on the skin can have a beneficial effect in treating asthmatic attacks and eliminating invalidism.

Normal use of steroids orally, such as prednisone and hydrocortisone, can cause high blood pressure, swelling, obesity and suppression of the adrenal glands, he said.

Dr. Williams said he found that, if triamcinolone acetonide, a corticosteroid developed for application to small areas of the skin, is inhaled from an aerosol, it enables the patient to breathe easily.

The method was tested on 40 patients. Twenty-five were able to discontinue use of oral steroids. Nine had to take the oral treatment temporarily during flareups, two continued on smaller doses and four were treatment failures, Williams said.

Tests on normal persons have shown that the maximum dose used in the study had no effect on levels of cortisol in the blood, he said.

In another development, Samuel Williams, a biomedical engineer from Philadelphia, Pa., demonstrated a new, light weight, portable stethoscope recording system, powered by batteries.

Felicity police chief ordered reinstated

FELICITY, Ohio (AP)—Harry A. Foy Sr. has been ordered reinstated as chief of police at Felicity by the First Ohio District Court of Appeals.

A lower court earlier ruled the Felicity Village Council had no reason to dismiss Foy, but did not order him reinstated.

Mann to take Council seat at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — David Mann is expected to be appointed by Cincinnati City Council Wednesday to replace Gerald Springer who resigned after becoming involved in a northern Kentucky prostitution case.

Mann, a Democrat, finished 13th in the race for nine seats at the last council election, was nominated by Councilman William Chenault, whom Springer designated to name his successor.

Springer quit when it was disclosed he was a witness in a prostitution trial. He admitted patronizing a health club for prostitution and checks written by him were used in evidence.

Springer considered asking reappointment to council, but Chenault refused, citing public pressure.

4 arrested in murder of nurse

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Police early today raided a north Philadelphia home and arrested three men accused in the shotgun slaying of a Columbus, Ohio, nurse last week.

A fourth man was arrested and charged with aiding the trio.

All the men arrested were from Columbus.

John W. Harris, 21; James J. Royster, 21, and Clarence E. Smith, 22, have been charged with aggravated murder in the slaying of Jeanette Nichols, a nurse at Columbus' St. Anthony Hospital, who police say was abducted on her way to work last Wednesday night.

Mrs. Nichols' body was found later in a wooded area in northeast Columbus. Authorities said she had been raped.

The fourth man arrested was identified as Eric G. Maurice, 20.

Two officers from Columbus were present when the arrests were made, shortly after midnight.

World War I Auxiliary officers are installed

Mrs. Cloyce Copley, president of World War I Auxiliary, invited members of the Auxiliary and three guests to her home Friday for a noon luncheon and afternoon meeting and installation of new officers.

Thirteen members including three guests from 461 Columbus, enjoyed the day. Members attending were Mrs. A. D. Woodmansee, Mrs. Jess Whitmer, Mrs. Lee Draper, Mrs. J. Paul Strevey, Mrs. C. P. Hackett, Mrs. Calvin Johnson, Mrs. George Hooks, Mrs. Hile Kennedy and Mrs. Allen Sells.

Visitors were Mrs. J. G. Schmitt, installing president; Mrs. Henry Stertzer, installing conductress; and Mrs. F. E. Crum, installing chaplain.

Those installed were: President - Mrs. Nellie Kenney; senior vice president - Mrs. Leota Johnson; junior vice president - Mrs. Eunice Draper; chaplain - Mrs. Gladys Strevey; conductress - Mrs. Mabel Whitmer; treasurer - Mrs. Lucy Sells; secretary - Mrs. C. P. Hackett; and guard - Mrs. George Hooks.

The appointed officers are: Publicity - Mrs. Hackett; patriotic instructor -

Mrs. Copley; hospital and VAVS chairman - Mrs. Margaret Cokonougher; and trustees - Mrs. Copley, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Draper.

Mrs. Copley opened the afternoon session in ritualistic form with Mrs. Strevey and Mrs. Whitmer chaplain and conductress at the altar service.

Inspection of dues cards and response to roll call was made by the conductress, Mrs. Whitmer. Minutes, correspondence and General Orders were read by Mrs. Sells.

Legislative chairman Mrs. Kenney reported on the proposed bills in the "Torch" and asked members to write their Congressmen to get Social Security exempt from being counted as income for pension purposes.

A report on the shuttins was made of eight cards, and three calls.

The auditing committee, composed of Mrs. Hackett, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Draper reported on the quarterly audit. Mrs. Copley reported she and the Rev. Mr. Copley had made reservations to attend the National Convention Aug. 31 - Sept. 4 in Kansas, City, Mo.

Brides-elect feted

Miss Betty Tabit

Miss Betty Tabit, bride-elect of Ralph Jones, was guest of honor at a bridal shower held in the home of Mrs. Harry Haines Jr. Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Ursula Williams, Mrs. Clara Pollard, and the Misses Irene Sheets and Esther Collins.

Those who were present for the evening were Carolyn Brewer, Connie Scheir, Peggy Self, Janet Deakne, Kathy Wright, Mary Alice Smith, Ann Everhart, Mary Secrets, Pamela Jennings, Pam Starr, Lola Maxwell and Doris McQuinnif.

Sending gifts were Mary Baughn, Ann Knapp, Jane Gardner, Lavon Mowery, Rosalie Boldman, Pauline Laycock, Lucille Allison, Lucille Jordan, Denise Butler, Jean Blaine, Juanita Seyfang, Lynn Lower, Jackie and Tracie Swinning and Betty Jean Henson.

Games were won by Mary Secrets, Connie Scheir, Pam Jennings and Janet Deakne, who in turn presented them to the honor guest.

Cake, ice cream, punch and coffee were served and the remainder of the evening was spent visiting.

Miss Margaret Milstead

Miss Margaret Lynn Milstead, bride-elect of Patrick Allen Lewis, was the honored guest at a bridal shower held in Fellowship Hall at the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church. Hostesses were Mrs. Stan Stanley and Mrs. Doris Diffendal. Contests were won by Mrs. Thane Chitty and Mrs. Neil Pendry, who presented the gifts to Miss Milstead.

The gift table was decorated with a white umbrella supported with blue candles in gold candle sticks holders and matching ribbons.

Snacks, mints, nuts, cookies and punch were served.

Invited guests were Mrs. John Milstead, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. Leonard Milstead and Mrs. Dorothy Bowen, grandmothers of the bride-elect; Mrs. Allen Lewis, mother of the prospective groom; Mrs. Rose Crothers and Mrs. W.R. Lewis of Wilmington, grandmothers of the prospective groom; Mrs. Robert L. Bowen, of Danvers, Ill.; Mrs. Roy Booco, Mrs. Wayne Dowler, Mrs. Jean Warner and Miss Susan Milstead, of Jeffersonville; Mrs. Roy Jacobs, Mrs. Thane Chitty, Miss Diane Chitty and Mrs. Pendry of Jamestown; Ms. Elster Hayes, Miss Debbie Hayes, Mrs. Wayne Watson and Mrs. Robert Chance of Springfield; Mrs. Ethel Long of Washington C.H.; Mrs. Linda Arrington and Mrs. Laura Smart of Martinsville.

Miss Gale Cox

Games were won by Gayle Rulon, Teresa Estle, Edith Ingram and Lyn Mason, who in turn presented them to the guest of honor.

Mrs. Morris guest at 'surprise' party

Mrs. Mina Morris was guest of honor at a "surprise" birthday dinner when several friends and relatives assembled in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caig, 6631 Jones Rd. NE, Sunday, following worship service at the Bloomingburg Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Morris was 84 years old.

Those celebrating the occasion with her were Mrs. Frank Taylor and son, Charles, of St. Charles, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Groveport; Ken Krantz of Wooster; Rick Craig of Rio Grande; Dave Craig of Westerville; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ervin, Mr. and Mrs. George Frank and Miss Dal Miller, all of Columbus; and the Craigs.

The 10th of May is significant to all of us in various ways, but to Mr. and Mrs. William L. DeWees May 10th, 1974 bears special importance because they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on that day. All of us at The First National Bank wish them many more memorable anniversaries.

Then, take an inventory. Put down your resources, what you have, what you owe, what you WANT.

Before you know it you'll have that PLAN, that BUDGET, and you'll be started on a sensible "money management" operation.

MISS DIANA MARTINDILL

June wedding is planned

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Martindill, Creek Rd. (Rt. 6), have announced the engagement of their daughter, Diana, to Rick Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, New Holland.

Miss Martindill is a 1973 graduate of Miami Trace High School.

Mr. Williams is a member of the graduating class of 1974 of MTHS, and is employed at Phillips Trailer Rental.

Mrs. Dove Circle hostess

Mrs. T. Mark Dove opened her home to members of Circle 4 of the Grace United Methodist Church. Mrs. Heber Deer, president of the circle, gave the devotion. Members answered roll call by reading something pertaining to "Mother."

It was stated that 46 calls had been made to shut-ins, funeral homes and hospitals. Mrs. Robert I. Case read the minutes, and Mrs. Maurice L. Sollars gave the treasurer's report. It was voted to make another payment on the circle pledge to the church. Mrs. Deer made a report of church day activities and plans.

Mrs. Edward Bower was celebrating her birthday, and the group sang "Happy Birthday" to her and presented her with gifts. Mrs. Dove presented the program and each member was asked to write a resume of the highlights or memorable events of her life. A discussion followed.

Refreshments of ice cream, hickory nut cake, strawberries, nuts, fruit punch and ice tea were served to Mrs. Deer, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Sollars, Mrs. Bower, Mrs. Walter L. Parrett, Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, Mrs. William D. Shepard, Mrs. Jean S. Nisley, Mrs. Millard H. Weidinger, Miss Helen M. Perrill and Mrs. Dove.

Cattle producers caught in bind

AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some easing of feed prices, new figures by the Agriculture Department continue to show cattle producers are caught in an unprofitable bind that has persisted for the past six months.

Consequently, according to USDA experts, the supply of feedlot cattle is expected to remain tight, at least until — and if — the much-awaited 1974 corn crop materializes in record proportions.

According to the latest farm price figures, corn on April 15 averaged $2.41 per bushel nationally, down sharply from $2.68 a month earlier and well below the record $2.76 set in mid-February.

Market prices of fed cattle, meanwhile, have jogged up and down a bit but mostly have held in the range of $40 to $42 per 100 pounds.

A year ago, when fed cattle were selling for a little more than they are now, corn was around $1.40 per bushel meaning that 100 pounds of market steer then sold for enough to buy about 30 bushels of corn. Lately, 100 pounds of live steer have been worth only around one-half the amount of corn of a year ago.

Department economists have developed statistics to show what the cattle-corn situation means even further to producers. During the first quarter of 1974 those figures spelled out one thing: the feedlot business lost money.

During the January-March period, according to the department's Economic Research Service, it cost $40.94 in feed alone to produce 100 pounds of weight gain on a steer.

During the same three months, according to ERS, choice-grade fed steers at Omaha averaged $45.40 per 100 pounds. But feed is only part of the cost of production, and when all expenses are added the January-March cost of 100 pounds of live steer was $51.13 per hundredweight.

That meant a loss of around $6 per 100 pounds — more than $60 per head — for the first quarter, assuming that all feed and other costs were paid for at prices prevailing during that time.

The figures do not take in account prices paid by producers for feeder livestock purchased earlier, grain laid away months before or other expenses incurred in advance.

But the quarterly figures do serve to illustrate on a comparative basis what has happened in the feedlot business, and that includes smaller farm feeders as well as the big commercial facilities.

For example:

In the first quarter of 1973, when fed market cattle were bringing about what they are now, it took only $18.49 worth of feed to produce 100 pounds of steer. The total cost, including all other expenses, was $29.21 per 100 pounds, meaning that the profit margin in January-March 1973 was a delight to producers.

Put another way, according to first-quarter figures by USDA, the cost of producing feedlot cattle more than doubled in 12 months while prices producers received remained about the same.

LIONS SPEAKER — State Sen. Donald E. (Buz) Lukens, R-Middletown, will be the guest speaker at the regular semi-monthly dinner meeting of the Washington C.H. Lions Club at 7 o'clock tonight in the Country Club. Members of the Lions Club will also be saluting honor students from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools during the meeting.

Hero worship shifts with age

SEATTLE (AP)—A recent survey of 100 pupils in Seattle and Everett schools showed apparent differences in hero worship.

A class of Seattle fifth graders most admired athletes, movie and TV stars. But a high school freshman said, "How can you admire anyone if you only see them on TV? You have to be able to talk with them and question them."

One teen-ager said "Maybe people just don't need heroes anymore."

County gets welfare money

Fayette County has received a distribution of $13,302.60 in welfare assistance money for March.

The state auditor's office distributed a total of $8,665,466.33 in welfare assistance money for the month to

Ohio's 88 counties. Of this amount, $3,298,981.87 went to 88 counties to help cover the general relief and administration costs of their welfare operations, according to Thomas E. Ferguson, deputy auditor.

Noble and Van Wert counties did not receive any of this money. The general relief subsidy is derived solely from state revenue.

The bulk of distribution $5,566,484.46, went to all the counties for their administration and purchase of family and children services. Such revenue comes from both federal and state funds. Aid for Dependent Children is the primary family and children service.

Distributions of welfare assistance money to surrounding counties during March included:

Clinton, $19,273.28; Greene, $90,392.82; Highland, $17,494.08; Madison, $16,084.46; Pickaway, $16,205.98, and Ross, $45,631.11.

Kentucky wants men for slaying

BURLINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky authorities have filed extradition proceedings against two Michigan men for the 1971 hijack-slaying of an Ohio truck driver on Interstate 75 in Boone County.

Dennis McDonald, 26, of Lincoln Park, Mich., and Richard Dix Stewart, 49, of Detroit, were apprehended in April by the FBI and the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Rufus Day, 51, Trenton, Ohio, was beaten to death in the cab of his truck. He was employed by the Harvey Transport Co., of Monroe, Ohio.

The Michigan men were indicted on murder charges recently by the Boone County Grand Jury.

Ohio's 'liquor business' explained to Kiwanis Club

An inside look at the Ohio Department of Liquor Control was presented to members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club during their regular weekly dinner meeting Monday night in the Lafayette Inn.

J. Fred Rose, chief of the department's legal section, told Kiwanians that the agency was established in 1934 as a result of the Liquor Control Act which was approved by the legislature following prohibition.

He said Ohio and 17 other states are "controlled" as all distilled spirits are sold in state liquor stores while malt beverages and wine are sold in various licensed premises. In an "open" state, both distilled and malt beverages are sold through licensed outlets.

Rose noted that local community options exist for a town, two precincts or a township to vote an area dry. Local communities can object to the establishment of a tavern, carryout store or any other type of on-premise liquor consumption outlet.

In 1973, two important changes were carried through the state legislature, according to Rose. One change made it possible to hold hearings locally instead of appearing in Columbus concerning any liquor question, and it also permitted the hearing to be strictly an investigation instead of imposing rules of evidence.

The second law established standards dealing with the neighborhood effect and qualities needed by the proprietor of the new liquor establishment.

Rose said all political subdivisions have a previously determined quota of possible liquor permit holders. He said each request for a permit of any type must fit into the established quota of the area.

George Gibbs, club president, conducted the business meeting and Dennis Ulrich introduced the guest speaker.

Suit planned on Cincinnati school setup

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati's embattled conservative board of education voted to file suit against a federal agency and ask a U.S. District Court to uphold its neighborhood school system.

"It's about time we faced up to this," said President Charles Lindberg, a lawyer.

He said the suit would be filed today.

The action beats civil rights groups to the punch, he said. The local National Association for the Advancement of Colored People chapter has threatened for months to file suit.

The suit names the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which April 25 impounded $911,918 in emergency school relief funds, as defendant.

The HEW office in Chicago said the new board failed to implement the total desegregation policy adopted Dec. 10 by the outgoing, lame duck, liberal-controlled board.

The suit challenges the right of the HEW to withhold federal aid, charging it was done "for the purpose of coercing the board to abandon its policy of providing a quality integrated education to the children of Cincinnati through the maintenance of neighborhood schools, and for the purpose of coercing the board to overturn and restructure the system of public education now in operation in Cincinnati."

The new board implemented a teacher integration plan and is creating alternative schools. Neither has been approved by HEW's Chicago office.

Youngsters decide what's important

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Youngsters in some Columbus Public Schools are spending an hour or so each week talking about their individuality and feelings and deciding what's important in life.

The pupils are learning about decision-making, value-sorting, self-awareness and self-validation as part of a pilot project in career education.

The "Learning to Live" program is to motivate kids to become part of the world of work, said Joe Cofer, a career education coordinator.

Plan public hearing on jetport proposal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Lake Erie Regional Transportation Authority (LERTA) is planning a public hearing for the end of this month on the proposed jetport for north-eastern Ohio.

Authority President E.W. Sloan said Monday the hearing May 30 or 31 will give the board a chance to sample public sentiment before deciding whether to continue a feasibility study for the jetport.

Sloan said that decision is to be made by June 10.

He said a major consideration will be a consultant's report on anticipated future air traffic demand at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

ETV blankets Ohio, school chief reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is "virtually blanketed" with educational television, state School Supt. Martin W. Essex said Monday following approval of $3.3 million for educational television by the Ohio Board of Education.

The total includes $1.34 million in state subsidies to Ohio's eight non-profit educational television corporations. The rest of the money will be spent for program leasing, filmed instruction, and broadcast services this school year and next.

Lung cancer, the leading killer of all cancers, has increased by about 100 per cent for both men and women. Deaths are expected to rise to 75,000 in 1974 from 72,000 in 1973.

Tigers bomb Blue Lions, 14-3

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Writer

After a spirit-lifting victory on Saturday against county and SCOL rival Miami Trace, the first win in two weeks, the Washington C.H. Blue Lions got bombed on their home grounds by South Central Ohio League foe Circleville. The Tigers pounded three Lion pitchers for 14 runs and 13 hits en route to their 14-3 rout. The loss is the Lions' tenth loss of their last 12 games.

Tiger pitcher Doug Roll hurled a neat one-hitter in which he gave up no earned runs, while striking out eight and walking three. Craig Stelbelton started the game for the Lions and took the loss. He pitched only one inning giving up three hits, five runs and three walks. Junior Larry Dumford pitched the second and third innings, giving up seven hits, four earned runs and striking out two. Senior Greg McCune finished the game, yielding four runs on three hits while striking out three and walking five.

Circleville jumped out in front in the top of the first. Leadoff hitter Brent Mancini drew a walk and scored on a Bill Davis double to right-center field. First baseman John Thomas then unloaded a double of his own, scoring Davis. Then after Tim Mace walked, right fielder Tom McNaughten smashed a three-run home run to make the score 5-0 right from the start.

Washington C.H. got back on run on an unearned basis. Mark Johnson reached on an error, as did Alan Coppock. Then Johnson scored on a ground out by right fielder David Rittenhouse.

The Tigers added to their lead in the second on a single by Mancini, Davis' second consecutive double and a two-run error on a ball hit by third sacker Biff Bumgarner. Three more runs in the third put the game away for Circleville. Consecutive singles by Fred Scherer, Mancini, Davis, Thomas and Mace made the score 10-1.

Circleville added even more to their mountain of runs in the fifth. A single

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John Bench's hitting, combined with an upsurge in Cincinnati pitching, gave the Reds a 4-1 triumph over San Francisco and moved Cincinnati within a half game of the third place Giants in the National League West.

"It really feels good to be swinging the bat," said Bench who had a home run and a single Monday night, giving the Reds their third straight win and four victories in the last five games.

Bench broke out of his slump May 3 in Chicago when Manager George "Sparky" Anderson moved the .194 hitter from fifth to third in the lineup. Since then Bench has had 13 hits in 29 trips to the plate including three home runs. He is now batting .265.

But losing pitcher John D'Acquisto, who beat the Reds 4-3 in San Francisco, was not about to be scared by Bench.

"I had to challenge him," said the lefthander, who served up the home run in the fourth inning. "He was just better than me—this time."

"It was the kind of pitch you look for all day in batting practice," said Bench, "but he's got a lot of stuff and he's learning to be a good pitcher."

Tony Perez followed Bench with a

triple and scored on Merv Rettenmund's ground out.

Cincinnati got two insurance runs in the seventh when Pete Rose doubled home Cesar Geronimo and scored on Joe Morgan's second hit of the game. Morgan had gone 0-17 before the game and hit a line single to right in the third.

"It was a bullet," said Morgan with a straight face, "anything is a bullet when you're 9-for-17."

San Francisco's lone run came in the fifth when Gary Matthews hit his fourth home run of the season.

Giants' first base coach Joe Amalfitano was ejected by third base umpire Bill Williams in the seventh inning when Dave Kingman's bunt, which appeared to hit the third base bag, was declared foul.

"I'm gonna keep everybody in suspense," grinned Reds third baseman Dan Driessen afterward when asked if the ball was actually foul. Kingman struck out leaving Matthews stranded.

Giants Manager Charlie Fox was livid after the play and declined to be quoted. His team is now 7-4 on its current road trip.

Don Gullett, with relief from Pedro

Borbon in the eighth, who needed only five pitches to end the game, was the winner, 3-3. D'Acquisto is 2-4.

Gullett's victory, plus good efforts by Fred Norman and Clay Kirby winning a doubleheader over Houston Sunday, have lowered the earned run average of Cincinnati pitching to 1.19 in the last nine games.

Mike Caldwell goes to the mound tonight for the Giants against Cincinnati's Jack Billingham. Both have 5-1 records.

Panthers edged by Indians, 3-2

HILLSBORO — Three unearned runs by the Indians eliminated nearly all Panther hopes for a South Central Ohio League championship, as Hillsboro nipped Miami Trace 3-2, Monday afternoon.

With the victory, Hillsboro is just a few percentage points out of first place in the SCOL race. The Indians are now 8-3 in the league and 13-4 for the season. Unioto leads the league with a 7-2 mark and 18-2 overall.

Miami Trace falls to a league record of 5-5 for the season. Overall, the Panthers are now 7-12.

Hillsboro's winning run came in the bottom half of the fifth inning. With two outs, third baseman Bob Seeling drew a walk. Seeling was caught in a run-down between first and second, but a wild throw allowed him to coast into second safely. The error proved costly, as Dave Larimer followed with a single to score Seeling.

Miami Trace held the lead twice during the course of the game. The Panthers led 1-0 after the first frame and 2-1 after the third stanza.

Miami Trace's first run was unearned. Tom Pfaff led off the game with a double, Greg Cobb walked and Tom Riley also drew a base on balls to load the bases. Pfaff came across the plate on an error.

Hillsboro tied the game in the bottom of the second. Larimer reached first on an error and advanced to second on a fielder's choice. Kevin Bailey's two out single scored Larimer.

In the third, the Panthers quickly regained the lead. Cobb doubled and scored on Riley's single.

Mike McGinniss and Ron Gleadle each collected singles for the Indians in the fourth. With two outs, an error on a ground ball hit by Steve Coy tied the game for the second time.

In suffering the defeat, the Panthers' Randy Reiber allowed only six hits. He walked two and struck out six.

Larry Gibbs registered the victory. While yielding four hits, he struck out seven and walked one.

Miami Trace has three SCOL games scheduled for the remainder of the week. The Panthers host Madison Plains at 2:45 this afternoon, host Circleville on Wednesday and travel to Unioto on Saturday.

Persinger, King nominated to Prep All-America

Dave Persinger and Jeff King, senior basketball players for Miami Trace High School this past season, have been named to the Prep All-American Basketball Yearbook for 1973-74. Their selection to this Prep Honor Roll makes them eligible for receiving national awards, which include the Prep 100 Squad, Super Ten Team and Cum Laude.

Sponsored by 'Coach and Athlete Magazine', the Prep All-America Basketball program is an annual honor roll of outstanding basketball players from high school teams throughout the country. The purpose of the program is to promote and encourage, by means of national recognition, local sports accomplishments and individual athletic ability.

During the past season, Persinger averaged 17.4 points per game and 11.2 rebounds per game. He was a 50 per cent shooter from the field and made 63 per cent of his free throws.

Persinger's honors included honorary captain and first team All-South Central Ohio League, All-District first team and special mention All-Ohio. Persinger was the Panthers' most valuable player, leading rebounder and best scholastic player. He stands fifth in a class of 246 with a 3.8 scholastic average.

King was voted the team's most improved player. He scored 13.6 points and gathered over seven rebounds per game. King made 52 per cent of his attempts from the field and 56 per cent of his foul shots. He was a second team selection in the SCOL.

Both Persinger and King were honorary co-captains of Miami Trace this past season. Persinger, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Persinger, resides at 6365 Ford Rd. King, who is also 18, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max King on Route 5.

Apodaca hurls Mets over Cardinals, 5-3

By The Associated Press

Bob Apodaca came out of the bullpen Monday night to give the New York Mets some much-needed relief ... as a starting pitcher.

If he has his way, he'll be starting again as soon as possible ... right back toward the bullpen.

The 24-year-old rookie righthander, whose seven previous major league appearances were all in relief, worked five innings—just enough to pick up his first victory as the Mets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3. He allowed six hits and two runs and left when he developed a blister on his pitching hand.

"I felt strong, but I wouldn't want to be a regular starter," said Apodaca, who got his starting shot because Jon Matlack pulled a muscle running before a game in Chicago on Saturday. "I really prefer relieving because you can get in there maybe three or four times a week."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 8-4, the Cincinnati Reds downed the San Francisco Giants 4-1 and the Atlanta Braves shaded the San Diego Padres 7-5. Chicago, Montreal, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Dodgers 8, Astros 4
Jimmy Wynn's two-run single highlighted a five-run fifth inning and he drove in another run with a sacrifice fly. Wynn had four homers and seven RBI in his two previous games.

Boston defeats Tribe on Ellis' home run

By The Associated Press

"It was a bad pitch," John Ellis said happily.

"It was a bad pitch," Luis Tiant said sadly.

It was a good pitch for Cleveland and a crummy one for Boston.

It was a pitch that ended up in the left field seats, a three-run homer by Ellis in the first inning, a booming shot off the troubled Tiant that catapulted the Indians on their way to a 4-1 victory over the Red Sox Monday night.

Also in the American League, Milwaukee edged into first place in the tight East Division by beating Baltimore 9-4, California belted sagging Texas 8-4, Minnesota turned back the Chicago White Sox 7-5 and Oakland shellacked Kansas City 11-2.

"It was a bad pitch. It was a slider that was just hanging right there over the plate," said Ellis. "Tiant doesn't give you many of those pitches and I was lucky to take advantage of it. If he didn't do that, he probably would have shut us out."

"It was a bad pitch," Tiant agreed. "But you can't win without getting runs. We haven't been getting any runs recently. I feel good and I've been pitching well and that's all that matters to me."

Brewers 9, Orioles 4
"I think we're an all-around better club and this division is going to be something," said Manager Del Crandall, whose Brewers moved into first with a .519 percentage, just .002 ahead of Baltimore, .003 in front of

Cleveland and .005 ahead of the idle New York Yankees.

Nine Milwaukee players drove in the nine Milwaukee runs, with Dave May, Bobby Mitchell and Johnny Briggs slugging solo homers to support Ed Sprague, who pitched six strong innings in his first start in nearly two years to get his first victory as a Brewer.

Golf league opens with make-up match

Top Flites took the first round lead in the Wednesday Night Golf League, as the six teams played in a postponed match at the Washington Country Club.

The Top Flites defeated the Reds 14-6. In other action, the Tourneys edged the Titleists 11-9 and the Maxflis stopped Blu Max 13 1/2-6 1/2.

In the first flight, Irvin Reeves of the Maxflis and Dick Andrews of the Reds tied for honors with identical 43's. Jim Wightman of the Tourneys shot a 42 to

Search widens for 2 escapees

NASHVILLE (AP) — A massive search for three state prison escapees convicted of killing a Nashville policeman continues today with help from the FBI.

FBI agents joined the search for the trio Monday after U.S. Magistrate Kent Sandridge II issued an unlawful flight warrant for the three. Also involved in the search are agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification and Nashville police officers.

Three men were arrested Monday in Chattanooga and authorities held them for questioning in connection with the escape, but comparisons of photographs showed that they were not the escapees.

Chattanooga police said the three were picked up originally because they were acting suspiciously.

The fugitives, William Garvin Allen, 29, of Old Hickory, Stephen Parker, 30, and Ralph Canady, 33, both of Cincinnati, escaped Sunday afternoon wearing civilian clothes smuggled into the prison by visitors.

They were convicted of the January, 1968, slaying of Nashville patrolman Charles Wayne Thomason. They are also charged with killing patrolman Thomas Johnson, but they have not stood trial on that charge yet.

Service Notes

Serving in Thailand

Now serving at Ubon Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, with a Pacific Air Force, unit is U.S. Air Force Lt. Col. Robert E. Clyburn, son of Mrs. Margaret Clyburn, of Greenfield.

Col. Clyburn, an assistant chief of logistics, was previously assigned to Tempelhof Central Airport, Germany.

A 1942 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School, the colonel received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1949 from the University of Cincinnati and was commissioned there as a distinguished graduate of the ROTC program.

Assigned to Minot

Airman Michael L. Gillenwater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gillenwater, of Greenfield, has been assigned to Minot Air Force Base, N.D., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Force command's Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command for further training and duty in the administrative field.

Joins NATO exercise

U.S. Air Force SSgt. Michael J. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Schmidt, of Greenfield, recently participated in a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) training exercise in Germany.

SSgt. Weaver, an air traffic controller at Bitburg Air Force Base, Germany, with the 2139th Communications Squadron, and fellow airmen provided vital support for flying units participating in the maneuvers.

The annual exercise, designated "Crested Cap 74", was the fifth in a series demonstrating the U.S. contribution to NATO.

The training began in early March with the deployment of Air Force F-4 Phantom aircraft and personnel to Hann AB, Germany, where they supported concentrated flight training in the European area.

NATO, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary, maintains a state of readiness to cope with aggression against any of its 15 member nations.

SSgt. Weaver, a 1968 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School, attended Ohio University, Athens, before joining the Air Force.

Trouble in tornado insurance settlements

By DEAN SCHOTT

Associated Press Writer

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Paul Lower, 54, just barely fought off financial disaster after the April 3 tornado swept through Xenia and nearly demolished his home.

City building inspectors wanted to raze his story-and-a-half house as unsafe. Lower wanted to repair it.

Lower won. He saved the $30,000 difference between rebuilding at $60,000 and repairing at $22,000. He has $30,000 in insurance.

"It was a matter of going bankrupt or not going bankrupt," he said. "My insurance will cover what has to be done in repairs. To tear the house down and start over from scratch I would have been $30,000 in debt. At my age that's too much."

Lower is just one of thousands trying to pick up the pieces in 11 states hit by tornadoes that Wednesday afternoon. The twisters killed 317 persons and wreaked property damage estimated at upwards of $1 billion.

Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana were among the hardest hit states. Xenia was the focus of the worst, most concentrated devastation. Thirty-two persons died and about 1,300 homes were destroyed in this southwestern Ohio city of about 25,000. The Xenia storm damaged another 2,200 houses, apartments and business buildings, half the city.

The Ohio Insurance Institute in Columbus set the insured damage at $88 million.

In the disaster, home owners looked to their insurance companies and found generally good response. "Generally we really haven't had too many complaints," said Dave Sheppard, Indiana deputy insurance commissioner. "We've had a few stagger in from time to time."

"The companies have been pretty good about prompt contact and trying to settle as soon as possible."

In Kentucky, Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey said there hadn't been 10 serious complaints. He estimated 80 per cent of the claims already have been settled.

But, things haven't been that placid in Xenia, where city pride and the desire to rebuild the city collided with dollars and cents.

First controversies arose over living costs in the first few days after the tornado hit Xenia. "The adjusters ran over there hat in hand, not really prepared for what they ran into, and were giving living expenses on final settlement vouchers with disclaimers on the back."

"The Legal Aid Society got all excited and scared people to death. It got so people were afraid to cash the checks they got from the insurance companies," said a spokesman in the state Department of Insurance.

After that came the arguments over the buildings themselves. Should they be torn down as the city ordered or repaired as many of the insured, like Paul Lower, wanted?

"The city wanted to rebuild Xenia better than ever, to seize the opportunity for urban renewal, to solve old traffic problems, to give the city a new look," said the insurance department spokesman.

"It was perfectly natural, but a lot of homes were under-insured and you got situations like the Lower case."

It began a couple of days after the twister when a score of city building inspectors toured the city, judging if structures should be razed or repaired. Many residents complained the inspectors made their decisions from passing cars and not from on-the-site inspections.

A spokesman for one large insurance company, which has a $22 million stake in Xenia tornado claims, said, "The city went off base early in the game and home owners began complaining. The city has backed down, that's what it amounted to."

The spokesman said he understood the city would lift condemnation if the home owner asked that it be lifted.

But, E. A. Davis, a Dayton structural engineer working for the city of Xenia, said chances of getting condemnation lifted were one in 20.

Lower became that one in 20. Bill Roden, another owner of a damaged home, wants to be but still awaits a decision.

Resting on his wheelbarrow after some cleanup work, Roden looked at the damage to his one-story frame house—a hole in his roof which had been covered with clear plastic.

"I think the city is all wet," he said.

"They're all wrong. It's not that I want to cause trouble, but they've made a mistake on this."

For Roden and his claims adjuster from the Grange Mutual Casualty Co., the problem also is money.

"I have $23,100 of insurance coverage to be exact," said Roden. "The contractor said it would cost about $30,000 to rebuild the same home."

Roden said the claims adjuster estimated repairs at about $10,000.

"They can't condemn this house," the adjuster said. Roden nodded in agreement.

"The individuals are being harmed by this and the city is slowly realizing it," said the adjuster, who didn't want to be identified. "Everybody was in a state of shock and the city fathers thought it would be the best time to redo the town."

"That would be nice for the city fathers, but the people would be harmed."

'Brinkmanship' by Fed under fire

By JOHN CUNIFF

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With the business community seemingly determined to continue borrowing money no matter what the cost, the Federal Reserve Board is being forced into an almost unprecedented situation.

In theory, rising interest rates are a relatively smaller than usual growth in the money supply are supposed to discourage borrowing. But recent surveys show that business plans to spend much more than it did in 1973.

One corporate treasurer explained: "We don't like to pay high interest rates but it has been our experience over the past five years that if we don't borrow now we'll pay more tomorrow."

The Fed, therefore, is faced with a situation that grows more critical each day: Should it continue monetary restraint and risk economic chaos? Or should it relent?

After stating he will continue restraint, Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, is being accused by some investment brokers and businessmen of financial brinkmanship.

Manown Kiser Jr., senior vice president of Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis, a large securities house, commented in the firm's newsletter: "Surely Dr. Burns does not want to cast the economy into the abyss of a liquidity crisis and an ensuing depression. It might cure inflation, but politically and socially, the system would not survive the fall."

The alleged brinkmanship, he said, involves the basic underpinnings of the American financial structure of equity, bond and money markets, and the various financial institutions and commercial banks.

"All are inter — and intra — related, entwined and inseparable," he commented. "If one were to crack, there would be reverberations throughout."

While feeling that the Federal Reserve will ease monetary policy and that interest rates will fall sharply, Chase Econometric Associates late in April felt it was important to consider the alternative.

If the Fed decides to continue to tighten monetary policy in an abortive attempt to reduce the rate of inflation too quickly, chaos would result, said the firm, which is part of Chase Manhattan Corp. It added:

"Under our credit crunch scenario, we would expect the failure of at least one large corporation issuing commercial paper and a resulting lack of liquidity in the entire nonbank commercial paper market."

Commercial paper, a negotiable promise to pay, is an important source reacted sharply to the adjuster's suggestion of razing homes in order to redo the town. "I categorically deny any interest like that," he said.

"There have been some honest differences of opinion between the city and home owners, but they have been resolved. We've taken all possible steps not to make any errors, but there are a few cases."

Stewart said city building inspectors have looked at dwellings as many as three times when there were differences of opinion. "We're willing to go back 10 times if it's necessary."

Not all the controversy has been between the city and home owners. The First Church of the Nazarene and its dispute with its insurance company is a major case in point.

"It's not coming along well at all," said the Rev. Harold Horton, an associate pastor of the Nazarene church.

The Rev. Mr. Horton said the chairman of the church's board of trustees had signed a demolition order for the city because the church and insurance company could not agree.

"They had a man from Midwest Contractors of Mansfield come down and he figured he could repair the church for $209,000. Our architect figured $330,000."

Jerry Reynolds, representing Midwestern Indemnity, said he stood by his engineer's report that the church was repairable and that the Mansfield firm was ready to do the job for $209,000. The church has $400,000 insurance.

He said Xenia's building inspector, Tom Fister, was studying the report. "I'm certain he will not begin demolition until he has studied the report. If the city doesn't lift the condemnation then I have no recourse other than begin injunctive action in Greene County Common Pleas Court," Reynolds said.

Reynolds said similar disputes would spring up about downtown business buildings.

of short-term capital for many corporations, as well as a source of income for companies with excess funds to lend.

Business loans outstanding at the big New York banks fell slightly in the week ended last Wednesday, but the amount, about $37 million, wasn't enough to convince observers that a trend to less demand was setting in.

If the decline continues for several weeks, however, economists believe it would indicate that Fed policy finally is forcing business to reconsider its spending plans.

Court News

JUVENILE TRAFFIC HEARINGS

Roy Allen Litteral, 17, son of Mrs. Margaret Litteral, 2011 Heritage Court, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender following a hearing before Judge Rollo M. Marchant in Juvenile Court. The judge suspended the youth's operator's license for an indefinite period, ordered him to attend the next Defensive Driving Course and placed him on probation with Marshall Boggs, an officer of the Court. The youth was charged with reckless operation April 27 by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department after he struck a parked vehicle at a Bloomingburg intersection.

James Beinger, son of James E. Binegar, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., and Mrs. Jennie Lee, Rt. 2, Washington C.H., was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender in a hearing before Judge Marchant and was ordered to attend the next Defensive Driving Course. The youth was arrested March 29 by the Ohio Highway Patrol for failure to maintain an assured clear distance following an accident at the W. Court Street-Circle Avenue intersection. However, the youth proved to the court that the brakes on his car had failed.

James A. Tagg, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tagg, of Sabina, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender by Judge Marchant and the court approved discipline imposed by the youth's parents. He was arrested April 21 by the Ohio Highway Patrol for speeding on U.S. 35.

Richard Rundblad, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rundblad, 628 Belle Aire Place, was adjudged to be a juvenile traffic offender and Judge Marchant suspended the youth's driver's license for a 30-day period. He was arrested April 22 by the Ohio Highway Patrol on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal on Palmer Road.

DIVORCE SUITS FILED

Two new divorce suits have been filed in Common Pleas Court.

Phyllis Jean Gault, Rt. 4, Washington C.H., has filed suit against Ronald G. Gault on grounds of neglect of duty. The parties were married Aug. 12, 1965, in Maysville, Ky., and have no children, according to the petition. The plaintiff asks to be restored to her former name, Phyllis Whiteside, asks to be awarded a 1964 model car owned by the parties and requests that a property settlement be determined by the court.

Margaret June Perrill, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, has filed suit against James T. Perrill III on grounds of neglect of duty and cruelty. The parties were married Feb. 7, 1954, in Washington C.H. and have two children. The plaintiff asks custody of the two minor children and reasonable alimony and child support.

CORRECTION

Danny R. Aills, 618 W. Market St., has been granted a divorce in Common Pleas Court from Barbara J. Aills on grounds of neglect of duty. The plaintiff was awarded the residence and a property settlement entered into by the parties was approved by the court. The defendant was awarded child custody. The Record-Herald incorrectly said in an earlier court column that Barbara J. Aills had been granted a divorce from Danny R. Aills.

Phone frauds bring terms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio men were convicted in U.S. District Court Monday for using electronic "blue boxes" to make long distance calls without being billed.

Marvin W. Levy, 22, of Columbus, and William J. Waters, 26, of Chillicothe, will serve six months in jail and two and a half years probation, a spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's office said.

The sentences are the most severe ever handed down in the state for violation of the "fraud by wire" statute, the spokesman said.

Maximum sentence for the crime is five years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

The two were indicted in February following separate investigations by the FBI with the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Chillicothe Telephone Co. Both entered pleas of guilty April 19.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

A conscientious declarer starts the play of each hand with the feeling that if anything can go wrong it will go wrong — and attempts from the outset to protect himself against every type of misfortune he can think of.

Accordingly, when West leads a diamond, South takes the somber view that he may lose a spade, a heart and two clubs — and go down one. He realizes he may not have a trump loser and that he will lose only one club trick if West has the ace, but he starts out by assuming he will be unlucky on both counts.

His next step is to seek a way to overcome the imagined bad luck. He notes that if the spades are favorably divided he can establish a spade winner to take care of one of his losing clubs, and that this possibility can be pursued without relinquishing his other chances for the contract.

Accordingly, he wins the diamond with the king and leads a spade. West follows low and East takes the jack with the king. Let's say East returns a diamond to the ace, whereupon South ruffs a low spade.

Declarer then cashes the A-K of trumps, East showing out, and ruffs a diamond with the jack. When he now trumps another low spade, West's ace falls and the contract suddenly becomes secure. South later discards a club on the queen of spades and loses only three tricks — a spade, a heart and a club.

Note that if declarer ignores the spades and relies on a favorable trump split or on finding West with the club ace, he goes down.

This business of planning the play in advance, instead of relying primarily on luck, pays good dividends from time to time. It pays to plan the play.

Speaking of Your Health...

Remarkable Body Factory

My cousin had a serious accident when she was thrown from a horse. To save her life, her spleen was removed.

What replaces the function of such an important organ?

Miss G.A. Iowa

Dear Miss A.:
The spleen is truly one of the most remarkable chemical factories in the body.

Every year scientific research yields more and more information about this amazing organ.

It plays an important role in the formation of red blood cells. Paradoxically, it is involved in the destruction of red blood cells that are old and have ceased to be useful.

Newer knowledge indicates the spleen is involved in building up body defenses against infection and in other factors of immunity.

When the spleen is removed, the bone marrow of the long bones of the body takes on the added burden of producing millions of red blood cells, white blood cells, platelets and other important substances in the blood.

The body has many such compensating devices.

Are breath-testing methods reliable for measuring the amount of alcohol in the body? Mr. H.H. VT.

Dear Mr. H.:
"Bag-breathing" and blood studies are very reliable in determining the alcoholic content of the blood.

Many states recognize this data as an indication of intoxication. It must be remembered that the tolerance for alcohol varies in people. Yet it is accepted that everyone with high or low tolerance has some loss of reflexes after drinking alcohol.

Undoubtedly, decreased reflexes, lack of concentration, and lessened judgment resulting from alcohol are responsible for the mass destruction of human lives on the roads.

In the air, too, it is known that alcohol can be responsible for major accidents. It is for this reason that commercial pilots never drink prior to a flight.

Youth Activities

JASPER-TOP-NOTCHERS

The meeting of the Jasper-Top-Notchers 4-H club started out great. Club members were reminded that market barrows and sheep must be on feed, market barrows and sheep also must be ear tagged by May 24, and also Jr. Leadership May 26. Reports were given. Junior Health boy Johnny Blair gave a report on "There Are Smiles," Senior Health boy David McFadden gave two reports one on "Solid Waste Disposal," and a safety report, and Senior Health girl Anita McFadden gave a report on "Colds." Treasures report was that the club had $16.00. Johnny Blair and Tim Anders served refreshments. The next meeting is planned for May 16.

Tim Anders, reporter

SEWING SAIORETTES

The fifth meeting of the Sewing Sailerettes 4-H club came to order when Roseann Royster led pledges. Most of the girls attended the Fashion Show and had pizza afterwards.

We adopted our Constitution and by-laws. Joyce Eggleton gave a safety report on "First Aid in Artificial Respiration." Anna and Kathy demonstrated and Kathy Kirk gave a report entitled "You and Your Teeth." Debbie Thompson gave a demonstration on "Correct Fabrics for Different People." Pam Smith gave a demonstration on "Calories."

Roseann and Joyce adjourned the meeting. Those present were Roseann Royster, Kathy Kirk, Debbie Thompson, Kim Smallwood, Anna Eggleton, Tracy Edmunson, Connie Livingston, Joyce Eggleton, Pam Smith and Guardians Mrs. Smallwood and Virginia Dunn.

POam Smith, reporter

ALL AMERICAN CLUB

The meeting of the All American 4-H Club was held in Chaffin School, when Steve Wilson opened the meeting. Gary Cruea led the pledges. Roll call and minutes were read by John Heironimus. He also made a motion for adjournment and Jay Baughn seconded.

Don Heironimus served refreshments. The next meeting will be May 20.

Randy Keiser, reporter

FULL STRINGER ANGLERS 4-H

The Full Stringer Anglers 4-H Club met and the meeting was opened with the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge led by Randy Boyer. Six boys answered roll call.

Officers elected were Gary Cruea, president; Randy Boyer, vice president; Dean Faris, secretary; Steve Wieland, treasurer; Timmy Orihood, news reporter; Geoff Bowers, health chairman; Kenny Wiscup, safety chairman; and Dean Faris, recreation.

The meetings were set up for the first and third Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Dues were set at 10 cents per meeting or $1.00 for the year.

In Focus

Charlie Pensyl

A few days ago, a friend and I were discussing over a soft drink (Doctor Pepper, if you must know) the latest meeting of the Bilderbergers in the luxurious Hotel Mont d'Arbois, owned by Baron Edmond de Rothschild. My friend, who was with the State Department for some time, is quite aware of H.R.H. Prince Bernhard's Bilderberger group and their close association with the Round Table Groups and the C.F.R. This latest meeting, April 19, 20, and 21, was attended by the usual group of Rothschilds, Rockefeller (both Nelson and David), Senators Mondale (D-Minn) and Mathias (R-Md.), and other representatives of money and political power from around the world.

Our talk got around to how few of the people who speak so glibly of political, economic, and world affairs over the coffee tables are even aware of the true power source in our government. Many of these people have no more than heard of the C.F.R. My friend commented on the column of a couple of weeks ago, and suggested that I should go a bit more into detail on the C.F.R.

The Council on Foreign Relations is an elite group of about fifteen hundred of the nation's top men in positions of power in finance, news media, tax-free foundations and government. These guys are carefully selected for their usefulness. This group has virtually taken over, first the State Department, and more and more into the entire Washington scene. That's why Dan Smoot's book on the C.F.R. is titled "THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT"; that's what the C.F.R. is. So you see, unless you have an understanding of the workings of this group and its counterpart in other nations, how can you expect to understand what's happening on the national scene, or internationally. If you don't know what game they're playing, how can you tell who's scoring points. And these boys are scoring points. I would guess that the Baron Edmond de Rothschild and his cousin, Guy Rothschild hosted the most powerful figures partly to tally their points. If you want more dope on these people, read Skousen's "THE NAKED CAPITALIST," $2 in paperback. Until you read Skousen's book you just can't get the whole scene in focus.
